Anastasia Death Seen Mafia Job Meeting Followed Talks in Palermo

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate rackets probes heard testimony today that mobster Charles (Lucky) Luciano, operating from Italy, may have stage managed last November's ill-fated "Crime Convention" at Apalachin, N. Y.

Martin F. Pera, undercover agent for the Federal Bureau of Narcotics, made the allegation in testimony before the special investigating committee headed by Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark.).

Police long have suspected that the meeting was a gathering of an American "grand council" of the Mafia, called to try to carve up peacefully rackets left unbothered by the murder last summer of racketeer Albert Anastasia, a reputed Mafia big shot. Pera has testified he believes the gunning of Anastasia was Mafia work.

Pera said the Mafia in Italy is torn by strife in which there have been 14 murders since 1955. He said this presumably has caused repression in the American underworld.

Ties Two Places

He told the committee he sees "great significance" in a meeting in Palermo, Italy, which he said brought together Joseph (Joey Bonanno) Bonanno, Carmine Galante and Sant' Angelo identified by Pera as Luciano's Italian top lieutenant.

Pera said Luciano, who was deported from the U. S., is under such tight police surveillance in Italy he often sends Sorge to represent him at meetings with American Mafia mobsters.

The committee has described Bonanno as a Mafia mobster who was at the Apalachin meeting, but did not at once give further identification of Galante.

Held Just Before

Pera said the Palermo meeting was just before the gathering at Apalachin. "The sequence of events is very significant" in indicating a relationship between the two, he said.

Four men alleged to have attended the Apalachin meeting were on hand for committee questioning about whether the meeting was linked to a national underworld syndicate.

The four summoned by the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee were described variously as a civic leader, a labor union official, a business man involved in deportation proceedings, and a gangster.

Follows Mafia Pattern

The new phase of the committee's probe opened Monday. A federal narcotics agent testified the meeting at Apalachin, N. Y., last November followed the pattern of the Mafia, otherwise known as the Black Hand criminal society.

The committee placed in evidence a statement listing the four men as among 60 rounded up by police in a raid on the meeting. (Continued on Page 3, Col. 4)

Five Locals Will Talk Terms for State Iron Jobs

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — A state mediator said today talks between five locals of the striking Ironworkers Union and management groups would be held in Utica tomorrow.

William Hazell said the five meetings are set up to eliminate time lags between bargaining sessions to settle the two-week-old strike.

Locals from Binghamton, Elmira, Rochester, Albany and Utica will meet separately with their employers and state and federal mediators.

He said that management had not agreed to the union's demand for a uniform, state-wide contract.

The Syracuse local will not attend the Utica meetings. The strike has been settled in the Niagara Falls area.

Hazell said some progress was made in talks yesterday in Albany between the Albany local and area builders exchanges. But, he said, union and management still were fairly far apart.

About 1,500 ironworkers are on strike. Their pickets have idled another 20,000 workers on construction projects across the state.

Beirut-Area Fighting Goes On

Lebanese Planes Renew Drive Against Rebels

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Government jet fighters took to the air at dawn today to renew their attack on rebels clinging to hill positions overlooking Beirut's International Airport.

The air attack coincided with new ground thrusts by security forces loyal to President Camille Chamoun's government, and pro-government irregulars.

Second Day of Fighting
It was the second consecutive day of fighting in the area 10 miles southeast of Beirut. Irregular reinforcements moved up to the hills in overloaded taxicabs and trucks, singing political songs and waving their weapons.

The rebel attack Monday was made by Druze tribesmen of Socialist Kamal Jumblatt who reached hill positions within five miles of the airport. The government forces dislodged them from a series of strategic spots, but the rebels hung on to some of the villages they occupied in the initial push. Shooting continued through the night.

Not Push on Capital

It was the closest Jumblatt's mountain rebels had come to Beirut, but it was not considered a push on the capital. For one thing, Jumblatt's forces were using small arms and did not have sufficient equipment to challenge the government forces.

Also, the former premier, Saeb Salam, is the rebel leader in Beirut, where his forces dominate the Basta Moslem quarter.

Some observers thought Jumblatt might be getting ready to form the rebel government he has been urging and wanted to extend his territory as much as possible before doing so.

The rebels of former Premier Rashid Karami around the north Lebanese port of Tripoli showed definite signs of weakening after government forces cut one of their main supply lines.

Jumblatt launched his attack from the mountain area he bars to U. N. observation teams after a warning that enabled the British Middle East Center for Arab Studies to move 24 teachers and students out of harm's way.

Poses Serious Threat

Using only small arms and pack weapons, the rebels took two ranges of hills within sight of Beirut and the airport.

The thrust posed a serious threat because the airport is the only base from which Lebanese jet fighters can operate. Strafing by jets apparently has been the government's trump card in several mountain battles so far.

This was the case again. Machine-gun and rocket fire from two jets routed the rebels from the first range of hills. The security forces and pro-government irregulars with mortar fire support moved up.

By late afternoon the rebels

Hoover Refutes Charges FBI Is Regular Gestapo

By JACK ADAMS

WASHINGTON (AP)—FBI director J. Edgar Hoover said today American law enforcement has a magnificent record of accomplishment which refutes charges that it functions as a Gestapo.

In a signed editorial in the July issue of FBI's Law Enforcement Bulletin, Hoover expressed resentment that "an unscrupulous few, through studied insults and calculated distortions, would besmirch and disgrace this world-renowned record of democratic achievement."

Hoover mentioned no names. However, his editorial followed a

Four More Are Nabbed By Rebels Diplomats Asking 44 Be Released

By GEORGE KAUFMAN

HAVANA, Cuba (AP)—A rebel raiding party kidnaped four more Americans in eastern Cuba today. Two U. S. diplomats sought the release of 41 other Americans and 3 Canadians seized since Thursday.

The four were abducted by rebels from a United Fruit Co. sugar plantation at Guarao, near Preston, on the northeast of Oriente province. Company officials said the rebels entered sleeping quarters of the combination sugar mill and agricultural experiment station about midnight.

List of Names

The four men apparently were selected at random. They were A. F. Smith of New Hampshire, the agricultural superintendent; J. F. Stephens of Oklahoma, assistant superintendent; H. F. Sparks of Indiana, and a man named Ford whose home state was not learned.

No violence was reported during the raid by a party of undetermined size. Guarao is about 40 miles west of Moa, where 12 engineers were seized Thursday night in the first kidnapping.

There was no word on the diplomats' progress in dealing with Fidel Castro's forces.

The rebel high command reportedly was considering whether to give up the servicemen and civilians seized in a series of raids in eastern Cuba beginning last Thursday night.

The decision was awaited by two U. S. consuls trying to deal (Continued on Page 10, Col. 1)

Ike Approval Forecast Alaska Nears End of Statehood Battle

By FRANK W. VAILLE

WASHINGTON (AP)—Alaska stood on the edge of statehood today—its 42-year fight near an end. The Senate, in an overwhelming 64-20 vote accompanied by gallery applause, completed congressional action Monday night on a bill to admit Alaska as the nation's 49th state.

Only presidential approval, expected Wednesday or Thursday, and formal acceptance by Alaskans are now required.

First Change Since 1912

Sponsors predicted completion of these preliminaries late this fall, in time for the new state's two senators and one representative to be on hand for the opening of a new Congress next January.

The action portended the first change in boundaries of the United States since 1912 when statehood was extended to Arizona and New Mexico.

For Alaskans, statehood will mean that for the first time since the territory's acquisition in 1867 its residents will have voting representation in the House and Senate, can elect their own governor and state officials, and can vote for the President and vice president.

Statehood also would give Alaska the right to select 103,350,000 acres of its area, including mineral lands, as a potential tax (Continued on Page 10, Col. 4)

McDonald Takes Cole's Position On Civil Service

Philip F. McDonald of 307 Main Street was appointed to the Municipal Civil Service Commission replacing Charles J. Cole of Summer Street, recently appointed superintendent of Board of Public Works, Mayor Edward F. Radel announced today.

McDonald, an accountant with Geary and McDonald, 296 Wall Street, was appointed to fill the unexpired term of Cole to June 1, 1962.

In his letter of resignation to Mayor Radel, Cole said: "Due to my recent appointment to the position of superintendent of public works and due to the possibility of future liaison between this office and the Municipal Civil Service Commission to administer the policies of the personnel of this department, I deem it proper to tender my resignation as commissioner."

Draws Prompt Reaction

His announcement drew prompt reaction from Republicans and Democrats. Senate Majority Leader Walter J. Mahoney, the third front-runner in the GOP sweepstakes, described it as "most interesting."

Democratic Gov. Harriman said it did not make any difference whom he had to face in November. Mahoney holds the balance of power on who the Republicans designate—Hall or Rockefeller, the governor contended. He added: "Both have to run on the Republican record in Washington and Albany against the achievements of the Democrats."

Look Alike to Democrats

Michael H. Prendergast, the Democratic state chairman, agreed. "Rockefeller, Hall, Mahoney—they all look alike to us," Prendergast remarked.

Says Nation Is Heading Toward Greatest Boom

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Frederick H. Mueller, assistant secretary of commerce, said today the United States is heading toward a boom so big that the postwar economic peaks will appear as mole hills.

No Guesswork

In an address prepared for the Milwaukee Rotary Club, Mueller said the Commerce Department projections, involving no guesswork and making full allowance for error, clearly show the ultimate direction of the economy.

"Under these conditions," he said, "I feel absolutely free in saying to you that this nation is headed towards the greatest period of economic activity the world has ever seen."

"Forthcoming is a period where demand for our goods, services, and supplies will be so great that the peaks of business and industrial expansion we have seen in 1953, 1956 and 1957 will appear as mole hills," he said.

Assails Some

He didn't venture a prediction on when this boom might develop. But he spoke in optimistic terms (Continued on Page 10, Col. 4)

Others May Follow UAW, Ford Break Until July 14

DETROIT, Mich. (AP) — Auto union contract negotiations now appear positive of going beyond the mid-July mark at least.

Ford and the United Auto Workers have agreed to break off their negotiations until July 14 for an extended Fourth of July interim period.

A similar program possibly may be arranged also by Chrysler and General Motors.

The UAW and Ford agreed Monday to the extended adjournment in deference to out-of-town union negotiators. The latter have been at the bargaining table and away from home with little interruption since late March.

This is the fifth week of the auto industry's no-contract period. The Budget Is Adopted On Monday School Link Word Due Before July 4

The Kingston Board of Education met in special session Monday afternoon and adopted the annual 1958-59 school budget which will become the actual budget for the city in the event the Consolidated District plan is not authorized. In the event the Consolidation order is made and the Greater Kingston Consolidated District is formed, the budget adopted Monday will become the working guide for the consolidated district budget.

The office of Commissioner of Education James Allen Jr., today told the Associated Press that a decision on Kingston and 25 rural school districts consolidating would be forthcoming before July 4.

Decision by the state has been reserved since a hearing held several weeks ago before the commissioner to hear oral arguments pro and con on the consolidation issue.

Kingston defeated consolidation in a referendum last April, following acceptance of the school link plan by the rural districts. The city board of education overrode the local vote and decided on consolidation.

The board had power to consolidate without a referendum, but state law calls for one in the rural districts.

Appeal from the action of the board is sought in Albany. Under the budget approved the assessed tax rate for next year will be $30.80, or $1.84 per $1,000 of assessed valuation greater than the 1957-58 rate which was $28.96.

List of Expenses

Under the new budget the total current expenses will be $2,712,074.32; debt service $232,037.50 and capital outlay $50,370.70, for a total budget expenditure of $2,994,482.52. Addition of a contingent fund of $5,000 will bring the total appropriation for education in the city to $2,999,482.52.

Receipts from other than tax items total $1,718,027.34, leaving the amount to be raised by tax levy $1,281,455.18.

Estimated cash balance on hand at the beginning of ensuing fiscal year is $35,327.70. State Aid public money from the county treasurer is estimated at $1,073,583.87. Amount to be deducted by state for teachers' retirement is estimated at $195,229.44 and the amount to be deducted by state retired teachers is $8,900. The amount to be deducted from teachers' wages for retirement is $111,386.28.

Other Receipts

Among other estimated receipts are: Federal allotment for vocational education $8,000. Tuition from districts under contract K-6 $26,550. Tuition from districts under contract 7-12 $221,775. Tuition from individual pupils $2,375.

Other sources, rental, etc., $4,600.

Summary Budget Items

A summary of the budget items for 1958-59 is: General Control ...$ 74,753.80 Instructional Services 1,843,665.00 Operation of Plant 214,135.00 Maintenance of Plant 122,497.64 (Continued on Page 3, Col. 5)

Mayor Gives Key To 70 Exchange Students Monday

Seventy exchange students making a tour of the United States before returning to their respective countries were greeted Monday night by Mayor Edwin Radel and given the key to the city at Kate Walton Field House.

Representing 24 foreign countries, they will visit the area for two days to visit historic sites as guests of the Prisma Society of Kingston High School.

Mayor Radel presented the key to the city to Beverly Castor, chairman of the group.

In his welcoming address, the mayor wished them a pleasant stay, and "hoped that they would find the people of the city most hospitable."

"We hope you will enjoy the scenic beauty of the Kingston area, and will take back with you a fine lasting impression to your own countries," the mayor said.

The trip here is part of a three-week tour through cooperation of the American Field Service for foreign exchange students, the Greyhound Bus Corporation, and 250 participating communities.

They will be entertained at the Governor Clinton Hotel to-night by the Kingston Lions Club. A picnic at Ashokan Reservoir and visits to the Franklin D. Roosevelt shrine and the Vanderbilt Mansion in Dutchess County are also scheduled.

Most startling gain has been in Puerto Rico, where in a decade and a half, average life span has leaped from 46 to 68.3. In all, seven nations are ahead of the United States. Soviet Boycott
Threat Eases as East-West Talk

GENEVA (AP)—East-West technical talks on how to guard against violations of a ban on atomic weapon tests open today with the week-old threat of a Soviet boycott apparently cleared away.

Preparations for the conference had been overshadowed by fear that the Soviets would back out because the United States refused to agree in advance that a ban on tests was the goal of the meeting. The United States contended that the conference must be devoted only to the technical, scientific questions of insuring compliance with a test ban. The Americans said any agreement to ban tests must be worked out in political talks later.

The Soviet delegation finally stated Monday it fully intended to take part in the talks. The outlook for the conference became even brighter after a meeting between U. S. chief delegate James B. Fisk and Yevgeni K. Fedorov, head of the Soviet group. Both delegations leaders predicted success for the talks, which they said would stay on the technical level. This indicated that the conference might avoid the stumbling block of political problems.

County Court Cases Monday
Before Judge Louis G. Bruhn

Two criminal matters were disposed of in County Court Monday afternoon by County Judge Louis G. Bruhn and one Youthful Offender matter was heard at chambers.

Assistant District Attorney Joseph Torracca moved for sentence in the case of Anson Manfro, alias John Manfro, who was charged with a violation of the gambling statute. Manfro, West Hurley, was represented by Hubert Richter. Under a plea of guilty to a second count Manfro was given a 30 days suspended jail sentence and fined $100. Bail was exonerated and the first count of the indictment was dismissed.

Sentence was also moved in the case of Floyd Embree Jr., 24, of 209 Greenkill Avenue, who had entered a plea of guilty to assault, third degree, involving a 17-year-old Kingston girl last July. Charles Saccaman appeared for defendant. Embree had been one of five local men indicted for rape, first degree, for an alleged attack on a girl at Greenkill Park. Saccaman pointed out to the court that Embree had cooperated with the authorities and had made a statement of the facts. In view of his cooperation counsel asked for leniency. Embree was sentenced to a year in the county jail, with credit being given for time already served. The first count of the indictment was dismissed.

Arraignment of Thomas Doyle under a sealed indictment was postponed when Judge Bruhn announced he could not hear the matter since he was disqualified from presiding over the case. Daniel Hoffman appeared for defendant. The matter will be heard later before Surrogate Judge Charles H. Gaffney, who under a new law may act for the county judge in the absence or disqualification of the county judge. Judge Gaffney, whose father died last Saturday in Marlboro, was not in court.

Court recessed until 11 o'clock Wednesday. Judge Bruhn denied a motion to set aside a $650 verdict returned last week in a civil action brought by Everett Soper against Empire Kitchen Woodworking of Highland. Abraham Streifer moved for a new trial as the verdict was against the weight of the evidence and the law, and contrary to the charge of the court. Soper was awarded $650, claiming he had been dismissed from the company with which he had a contract for $6,000 a year.

Joseph Profaci of Brooklyn, N. Y., named in a statement placed in evidence as "an old time, well established gangster."

All the committee contends, were at the Apalachin meeting. Martin F. Pera, Federal Narcotics Bureau undercover agent, testified Monday the gathering had the earmarks of a meeting of big shots of the Mafia.

Robert F. Kennedy, the committee counsel, said Pera would be asked for more details of his testimony that the Narcotics Bureau has spotted a concerted effort by Mafia mobsters to penetrate the labor-management field.

Lists Objective

Committee Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark) contends the objectives are (A) for mobsters to get respectable fronts behind which to operate and to conceal profits from narcotics, vice and gambling, and (B) to get contracts with labor unions giving their firms unfair advantage over legitimate competitors.

Pera testified that the Mafia is ruled by a grand council, rather than any individual, and that "the Apalachin meeting followed the Mafia pattern." He said the grand council meets periodically to make sure that its iron fisted discipline is enforced, and to prevent anyone under its orders from getting "too big for his boots."

Pera said the Mafia rewards its agents for "credible performance, an efficient murder" or other difficult assignments.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, JULY 1, 1958

HOLIDAY SAFETY APPEAL

Most Americans are good drivers—the high traffic toll notwithstanding.

This pat on the back for the average motorist comes from the National Safety Council as it opens its annual appeal for Fourth of July holiday safety.

With upwards of 70 million vehicles whizzing past each other only a couple of feet apart, the average driver must make 20 to 50 decisions an hour, many of them literally involving life or death. Last year's all-time low death rate of 5.9 fatalities per 100 million miles of travel proves that most drivers made the right decisions.

Most of us want to be good drivers. We pride ourselves on our skill and common sense. We obey the law. We don't want to hurt ourselves, our families or the stranger in the other car. Then why do we have accidents? Carelessness?

Carelessness is a catch-all word that covers a multitude of sins. Good drivers that we are most of the time, every one who has ever been behind the wheel of a car remembers the near misses—and our accident toll is made up of those that didn't miss.

We get tired. We burn up at some minor rudeness by another driver. We drive a little too fast. We take a chance in passing. We think a couple of drinks can't do any harm. Or due to any one of a hundred distractions, we let our attention waver from the road for an instant beyond recall.

The National Safety Council estimates that more than 45 million cars will be on the roads over the three day Fourth of July holiday. So don't be a good driver most of the time. You can't afford to make even one mistake.

A BIT OF SPECULATION

If events bear out the prospects of a sweeping Democratic victory this fall in California, the whole national Democratic party picture may be altered. A solid Northwestern wing of the Democratic party, with strong and sure popular support in California, would weaken the position of the Southern bloc of senators.

If that should happen, it would no longer be necessary for the more liberal Democrats to compromise with the diehard Southern bloc. Many of the more moderate Southerners might well tag along with the Northerners. The power and influence of Senate Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson of Texas might be lessened. The Northern liberals, including both members of Congress and the young governors, would have all the stronger chance of controlling the 1960 nominating convention.

It is too soon to predict the likely candidate under conditions such as those suggested here. However, it can be said that a California victory probably would increase the chances of Gov. Mennen Williams of Michigan. He is anathema to the Southerners. Also, solid Democratic strength in California could be important in any "draft Stevenson" movement, if such should develop. Stevenson would find strong support in California, as well as in the entire Northwest.

This is all speculative, to be sure. But speculating about possibilities on the political scene is one of the chief pleasures of those who find politics fascinating—and especially during the summer season of political doldrums.

As the recession appears to be waning, economists are beginning to guess how long the next upswing will last. Don't worry, fellows, everybody's rested up enough for a good long climb ahead.

STATE EMPLOYEES INCREASE

While the state's population inched ahead by 4.1 per cent between 1954 and 1957, total employment in the executive branch of New York State government marked a 17 per cent increase over this period, the Citizens Public Expenditures Survey reports.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY
THE GOLD DISCUSSION

It is becoming increasingly clear that the trend in the world is a return to the gold base for currency. The questions then arise: how much gold does the United States own absolutely? Can we switch our currency to a gold basis? What effect will it have upon the American economy if Soviet Russia goes on the gold standard or establishes a gold export rouble?

Now, it turns out, in testimony before the Byrd Committee of the Senate that when the International Monetary Fund was established, the United States paid 25 per cent of its subscription in gold.

Randolph Burgess, testifying concerning this, said:

"... back of all this talk about no more gold, and so forth, there is a real desire on the part of most people to get back to gold as the eventual value. It is a very interesting thing that this Monetary Fund, which was set up after the war, with a lot of very theoretical economists and so on, Maynard Keynes and Harry Dexter White, what they finally came down with after all their discussions was that they had to make it in gold; they had to base it on gold."

So the International Monetary Fund, set up by John Maynard Keynes and Harry Dexter White, was established with gold that the American people thought was at Fort Knox. Furthermore, the West Germans tied their mark to gold and were able to subscribe $100,000,000 in gold to the International Bank.

So Senator George Malone questioned Under Secretary Randolph Burgess of the Treasury Department about how much gold the United States possessed. We start off with the figure $22,600,000,000. Of this amount $9,500,000,000 was earmarked for foreign nations up to the amount of their dollar balances. This leaves the United States $13,100,000,000 absolutely, but $7,500,000,000 is in the hands of foreign nationals, leaving free and clear, for the government of the United States $5,600,000,000 as of the date of the hearing which was August 1957.

In this discussion between Under Secretary of the Treasury Burgess and Senator George Malone, it was finally agreed that certain factors indicated above can be omitted from these intricate calculations. They accepted the figure of $16,246,000,000 as earmarked. Thereupon, Senator Malone asked if that would leave a balance of about $6,500,000,000 of gold absolutely the property of the United States. To this Burgess replied: "Yes; that is about right."

Senator Malone pursued the subject in the following question: "And that is not quite enough to meet the 25 per cent reserve requirement that the law requires behind the $27 billion or $28 billion in currency in circulation today, is it?"

"Mr. Burgess. That is right."

Thereupon Senator Malone put it all bluntly in this summary:

"... Inasmuch as we owned a majority of all the gold in 1933 don't you think it was the intention of these foreign nations, right from the beginning, to get it away from us by making us feel that gold was unimportant?"

"Then when we went off the gold standard in 1933 and priced ourselves out of the world market through inflation—and gave them the money to buy most of our gold—then they may start emphasizing the importance of gold again?"

One of the effects of this condition, both the Senator and the Under Secretary of the Treasury agreed was that in 10 years, from 1947 to 1957, the dollar lost more than half of its value in purchasing power, so that wages were really lowered. In a word, $10 a day in 1947 is equal roughly to $4 a day in 1957. The following discussion is pertinent:

"Senator Malone. And you lowered the purchasing power of the dollar to less than half, you had about $4 a day in purchasing power."

"Mr. Burgess. That is right."

"Senator Malone. And that is the reason for increase in wages continually, that is the major reason and the real necessity for increasing wages, pensions, and annuities of various kinds that the Government pays and that the individual is living on, is it not?"

"Mr. Burgess. Well, it has been a major cause. Of course, wages actually have increased faster than the inflation."

"Senator Malone. You think they have? Of course, that is the argument—"

"Mr. Burgess. Some of them."

It is still not clear from this discussion precisely how much gold the government of the United States owns absolutely.

Science Still Seeks Cure

For Rheumatoid Arthritis

BY EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

Written for NEA Service

Rheumatoid arthritis (sometimes called chronic infectious arthritis or atrophic arthritis) is a serious condition of the joints. The cause is not known and its treatment is still far from satisfactory. Fortunately an increasing amount of research is being conducted on it.

Rest is always desirable, both for the joints which are affected and for the body as a whole. Simple remedies to relieve pain, providing they are not habit forming, are also helpful. Aspirin is still a tried and true remedy.

Many victims of rheumatoid arthritis have a tendency to anemia so that they may need iron preparation or, occasionally, blood transfusions. The diet for patients with rheumatoid arthritis, especially during the early stages, should contain enough nutrient material and should be high in vitamins. But there is little evidence that any single diet has a direct influence on the joint inflammation.

Some people seem to benefit by a change in climate—a warm, dry climate being the most popular. This also is by no means a sure cure.

Doctors have used treatment with foreign protein injections. These substances, usually injected into a vein or muscle, produce a kind of reaction which seems to stimulate the resistance. But this treatment is used less frequently now than in the past.

Preparations containing gold, given by injection, have been widely employed in this country and abroad. When used during the early stages this seems to have brought about good results in many cases. But it must be employed with caution.

Nearly everyone is now familiar with the use of cortisone and ACTH in rheumatoid arthritis. These substances often bring sudden and dramatic relief of symptoms. Unfortunately, however, the good results usually do not last long and undesirable side-effects are frequent. Consequently the search goes on for better methods.

Prolonged conservative treatment has great value. The comparatively simple methods available often bring good results. Several special mechanical devices have proven useful.

And it is important to remember that most victims of rheumatoid arthritis will never become so disabled as to be bedridden or to require a wheelchair.

cies of the executive branch had a total of 94,648 full time employees last year. This is an increase of 13,070 or 16 per cent.

The state's population during this period increased 648,634 to 16,418,818.

The figures released by the State Department of Civil Service do not include part-time and seasonal government employees.

Washington News

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Eisenhower administration public relations got some pretty rough criticism here at the Republican National Committee's school for the 48 GOP state chairmen.

Principal complaint was that the Eisenhower programs and accomplishments hadn't been sufficiently well sold to the voters. The general public was said to be not well enough informed on what Ike stood for and had done.

Evidence to support this criticism came from one report to the state chairmen by Joseph E. Bacheider of Industrial Advertising Research Institute, Princeton, N. J.

He revealed the results of a confidential survey made for the White House during the 1956 campaign.

The test was based on 20 factual and true statements of Eisenhower administration first-term accomplishments. Pollsters read these statements to a representative cross section of voters. They were asked to give their opinions on whether the statements were true or false.

On only one statement did more than 50 per cent of the people interviewed correctly identify it as true.

This was a statement that, "65 million Americans now have jobs and this is the highest number of employed people in U. S. history."

The statement is of course not true today. It has not been true since last September, although the number of employed may again get over the 65 million mark this month.

The question raised by the survey, however, was why did only slightly more than half of the voters know it was true in the fall of 1956?

The answer given was that the Republicans hadn't done a good enough job in selling their accomplishments.

This fact was further supported by the finding that on 16 of the 20 statements, fewer than 40 per cent of the people interviewed knew that the GOP claims were true.

Here are some of the other statements, true in 1956, which a majority of the voters didn't know were so:

Eisenhower cut Truman's last budget 10 billion dollars.

There have been income tax cuts of 7.5 billion dollars.

Seventy million Americans received income tax reductions.

Over 80 per cent of the cuts went to middle and low-income families.

The housing bill of 1954 made it easier for people to buy, build or rent adequate housing.

The minimum wage was raised from 75 cents to $1 an hour. All these statements affected average people. They should have known they had been benefitted, but didn't.

One reason given for the results was that President Eisenhower, though he has frequently used nationwide broadcasts, hasn't had the folksy ability of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt had in selling his programs in intimate fireside chats.

Another, more cynical view on the Bacheider survey findings was that the results were no different from what should have been expected. It was argued that American voters are always pretty uninformed about political issues. It was said that people vote by instinct, not reason.

In support of this view, it was argued further that it didn't make any difference if people didn't know what was true or false, because Eisenhower won anyway.

This brought out another conclusion of the Bacheider survey. It was an attempt to answer the question, "What makes people vote the way they do?"

Four principal motives were given: Ability of the candidate. Personality of the candidate. Issues. Party loyalty.

In voting for president, the conclusion was reached that people generally vote on their sizeup of ability and personality. Issues and party loyalty are considered secondary.

In voting for senators, the survey indicated that a combination of issues and ability had most influence.

In voting for representatives, party loyalty was said to be the dominant factor.

Wacky Programming

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — Roy Groomer has a television mystery no one can solve. Every 15 minutes, exactly on the quarter-hour, his set goes "wacky" for about a minute. The set has been checked four times by repairmen, at a cost of $40, power lines and transformers in the area have been inspected, and each appliance in Groomer's home has been checked. Groomer says the situation is "about to drive me nuts" but there is one consolation. The pictures usually goes bad during a commercial.

Commissions' Kow-Towing To White House Ruled Out

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, June 30—The Supreme Court of the United States has just reaffirmed a principle of constitutional law that has a direct bearing on some aspects of the controversy over the Sherman Adams case. The principle is also related to the recent furor over influences exerted by members of Congress on the Federal Communications Commission, which awards licenses for television and radio.

It has been erroneously assumed in the last few weeks in some quarters that the White House exercises some sort of control over the tenure of members of the independent agencies, such as the Federal Trade Commission or the Securities and Exchange Commission. It has been charged by critics that a telephone call from the executive offices merely inquiring about a pending matter could cause a commissioner to tremble because he might be summarily removed.

But the Supreme Court today, in a unanimous opinion, says that, where Congress by law does not specify a cause for removal, the members of quasi-judicial commissions cannot be dismissed by the President and that they do not, therefore, hold office subject to his will.

Justice Frankfurter, who wrote the 9-to-0 opinion, went somewhat further than did the Supreme Court twenty-three years ago when it ruled that members of the independent commissions could be removed only for the causes specified by Congress. Justice Frankfurter's opinion of this week says that the members of these commissions cannot be removed by the President during their term of office even when Congress fails to specify any causes for removal.

A President's power of removal had never in the history of the United States been the subject of an exhaustive study by the Supreme Court until Oct. 25, 1926, when it was held that the Chief Executive could remove a postmaster at will. From this it was inferred thereafter that he could remove all other officials of the Federal agencies as well. Chief Justice Taft, who had himself been President, handed down the decision in the famous Myers case. He ruled, in effect, that a President has an inherent constitutional power of removal of all officials even when they have duties of a quasi-judicial character. "This was supposed to flow from the President's power to see that 'the laws be faithfully executed.'"

Then came the historic decision of May 27, 1935, when by 9 to 0 the Supreme Court Justices overruled President Franklin D. Roosevelt's dismissal of William E. Humphrey, a member of the Federal Trade Commission whose term had not then expired. Mr. Roosevelt said that Mr. Humphrey was all right except that his mind "didn't go along" with the President's own selection.

By the time the case was decided Mr. Humphrey had died, but his case had stood in the Court of Claims for back salary and this was awarded in the 1935 decision. The Supreme Court insisted that the Myers opinion of 1926 applied only to "all purely executive officers."

If, as one must take for granted, the War Relocation Authority Act precluded the President from influencing the commission in passing on a particular claim, a fortiori must it be inferred that Congress did not wish to have hang over the commission the Damocles sword of removal by the President for no reason other than that he preferred to have on that commission men of his own choosing.

It has been argued that commissions would nevertheless be subservient to executive pressure because they might desire reappointment and, once they incurred Presidential disapproval, there would be no extension of tenure. But this could apply also to the necessity for confirmation by members of the Senate. So, theoretically, Congress must not be antagonized either. If commissioners want to play politics, however, they can do so anyway, but over the years the members of the quasi-judicial commission and boards have shown their independence. Many of the commissions have career personnel who serve indefinitely. They know the score. Scandals of improper pressure would be promptly exposed by them. The theory, therefore, that members must kow-tow to the White House to retain their posts now has been completely demolished by the Supreme Court's unanimous opinion today. NEW YORK (AP)—The flow of gold from the United States to other lands — mostly to Great Britain, Japan and The Netherlands — can put big city banks in a bind. And of late that's adding to the Federal Reserve Board's task of keeping money easy instead of tight.

Some 1 1/2 billion dollars from the U.S. gold hoard have gone overseas since the start of the year. Much of that outgo has meant at least a temporary drop in deposits for these banks, and hence a loss of reserves available for making loans. That is one reason the Federal Reserve has just made its largest purchase of U.S. Treasury 91-day bills in two years to relieve the strain on the big banks.

Slump Might Snowball
The board's official position is that it's glad friendly nations can build up their depleted gold reserves. But practically, it has had to counteract the flow so that the banks have plenty of money to lend during the recession. Otherwise the slump might start snowballing.

This is the way the flow of gold affects the U.S. banking system. The largest share of non-Communist held gold is in the United States. Central banks of other nations have the right to buy it at $35 an ounce, although American citizens do not.

Hands on dollars through international trade they frequently deposit them with either U.S. commercial banks or with the Federal Reserve banks, or they buy up U.S. commercial banks or with the Federal Reserve banks, or they buy up U.S. Treasury securities.

Cuts Bank Reserves

When yields on these securities dropped, foreign holders sold them, deposited the dollars in the banks and then used these deposits to buy gold from the U.S. Treasury through the Federal Reserve system.

The net result is to lower the total of bank deposits. This cuts bank reserves with the Federal Reserve system, and thus makes

Jury of Peers
WARREN, Ohio (AP) — A new method of handling juvenile traffic offenses here was introduced when Judge Bruce P. Henderson accepted recommendations of a jury composed of high school students. Representatives of 10 Trumbull County schools deliberated 20 minutes, then recommended that a high school freshman from nearby Southington be fined $20 and costs. They further urged that his driver's license be suspended for 60 days. The Ohio Highway Patrol said the youth failed to observe a stop sign, caused a traffic accident and left the accident scene.

Preachers to Sing

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Preachers, who usually occupy the pulpits, will take over the choir at the National Methodist Convocation on local church evangelism in Washington July 3-6. The church said a 1,000-voiced choir of ministers is being recruited for the event.

Paralyzed Vet Has Plan to Cut Costs

VAN NUYS, Calif. (AP)—A paralyzed war veteran is fighting to free quadriplegics from veterans hospitals—and save the government millions of dollars in the process.

Under Ted Anderson's plan each veteran paralyzed in four limbs would receive $200 a month to hire an attendant to take care of him in a home outside the hospital.

"That would be a saving of about $460 a month," Anderson said as he prepared to leave for Washington, where a bill embodying his proposal is due to be acted on in Congress shortly.

There are about 1,000 quadriplegics in the country, he estimated.

"We're expensive patients," said the 38-year-old former infantry officer who was shot in the neck by a Nazi sniper while leading a patrol across the Rhine. "It costs the government about $660 a month to keep us in VA hospitals."

More important to Anderson than saving money, however, is the prospect of freeing the paralyzed men from hospital life.

"After you've been in a hospital for years you'd do almost anything to leave," he said. Anderson, a graduate of the University of California, is now living in his own home with his 12-year-old daughter and a housekeeper. He and his wife are divorced.

Playgrounds Open For Summer Slate

The Kingston playgrounds officially opened at 10 a. m. today when the playground supervisors took over in their respective play areas and started conducting the summer program. The supervisors will remain on duty until August 23 at which time the parks will close for the 1958 season as far as an organized program is concerned.

The larger parks in the city will be under supervision until 8 p. m. Monday through Friday starting Monday, July 7. The above mentioned parks are Forsyth, Hutton, Block, Cornell and Hasbrouck. These parks will open at 9:30 a. m. and remain open until 8 p. m.

Other play areas under supervision will be Colonial Gardens, No. 2 School Play Area, George Washington School Play Area and Metropolitan Park. These four will be open daily Monday through Friday from 9:30 a. m. until 5:30 p. m. and Saturday from 9:30 a. m. until 12 noon. The heavy equipment in all parks will remain open until Halloween at which time the park caretakers will leave and the parks will be closed for the season.

The Department's nocturnal program for the week is a movie, "Showdown at Abilene," with Jock Mahoney and Martha Hyer, and it will be shown at dusk Tuesday in Block Park, Wednesday in Hasbrouck Park and Thursday at Colonial Gardens.

Boy, 14, Drowns

BRANT, N. Y. (AP)—A 14-year-old boy drowned Monday in Lake Erie, where he went to swim with a group of friends.

His companions told police that Clyde D. Stone called for help, then disappeared about 200 feet off the Erie County shore. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Pachut of Brant.

Sound Truck Man Thinks Merchants Fear Competition

A former assistant city judge today said his client would strenuously oppose any ordinance prohibiting the use of sound trucks within the City of Kingston.

Attorney Harry Gold of 243 Wall Street gave The Freeman a statement from Elliott Clark, owner of Clark's Sound and TV Service which said, "I maintain absolute prohibition of all sound amplification, even through reasonably regulated, is undesirable and probably unconstitutional."

He was of the opinion that recent "sudden activity on the part of merchants" against sound trucks is because "my sponsor was an out-of-town market."

Text of Statement
The statement from Clark follows:

"I have been in the business of providing sound truck service for my customers since 1930. During that period of time not only have I rendered such services for compensation but I have also donated hundreds of hours of free service to religious, charitable and other worthwhile organizations."

"Of necessity, during that period of time I have traversed the streets in the downtown business area on thousands of occasions without objections from any merchant. It is evident therefore that the cause of the present sudden activity on the part of the merchants is that my recent sponsor was an out-of-town market."

"It is difficult to conceive in what manner and by what means the use of a sound truck or an amplifying device thereon when properly regulated and confined as to time, area and extent of its use is a nuisance. There are rigid limitations and restrictions contained in a City Ordinance which was passed on June 4, 1941 which so regulate the use of sound trucks that same cannot become a nuisance."

No Complaints, He Says
"There has been some thought expressed in the press that the use of such devices can be legally prohibited since the listeners are a captive audience. It is interesting to note that there have been no objections raised by such 'captive audience,' but only the merchants who erroneously fear a loss of business."

"It apparently is desired by the merchants that sound trucks be made available only for charitable, religious and political purposes. It would not be feasible economically to maintain expensive equipment to be used only for such affairs. Revenue must be obtained from other sources to pay for such equipment."

To Oppose Ordinance
"Since the use of sound trucks has become a normal activity and is opposed by only a few people for economic reasons, I will strenuously oppose forbidding the use of such devices by the passing of an ordinance. I agree that reasonable regulations are most desirable, but I maintain absolute prohibition of all sound amplification even though reasonably regulated, is undesirable and probably unconstitutional."

Problem May Double
DETROIT, Mich. (AP)—Owner's of the world's largest flag figure they have almost two years to worry about adding a 49th star for Alaska, and by that time the problem may have doubled.

The flag, 235 feet by 104 feet, is owned by the J. L. Hudson Co. department store. It is displayed only on Flag Day, June 14, and only when Flag Day falls on a weekday. Its next scheduled appearance is June 14, 1960.

Spokesmen say the 5½-foot stars for the flag cost about $2,000 to have installed.

The problem is figuring out an arrangement for Alaska's star, and for a 50th star for Hawaii, should statehood also be granted to that territory.

Quits Police Post For Brown Campaign

NEW YORK (AP) — Robert J. Mangum has resigned as a deputy police commissioner to campaign for Earl Brown's election to Congress over Rep. Adam Clayton Powell Jr. (D-N.Y.).

Mangum, in charge of the department's youth program, was reprimanded last fall for countermanding the traffic arrest of a friend.

Brown, a city councilman, is the Tammany Hall candidate for Powell's seat from Harlem's 16th congressional district. Tammany leaders have said they are opposing Powell because of his support of President Eisenhower in 1956.

Powell has said he crossed party lines to support the Republican President for re-election because of Eisenhower's stand on civil rights.

U. S. Alarm Out For Man Sought In $74,000 Theft

NEW YORK (AP) — A nationwide alarm was out today for Benjamin Lapensohn, a Pennsylvania man accused of stealing $74,000 from the New York State Federation of Labor.

Lapensohn, 51, was indicted Monday by a Manhattan grand jury on 70 counts of forgery and 35 counts of larceny.

The defendant's whereabouts are unknown. A resident of Lower Merion, a Philadelphia suburb, he was last seen in New York City in May of last year. He sailed then for Europe after learning that the U. S. Senate rackets committee wanted to question him.

Manhattan Dist. Atty. Frank S. Hogan said Lapensohn had been hired to promote the New York Federationist for the State Federation of Labor.

Hogan said Lapensohn actually stole $116,000 from 1951 to 1957 by manipulating checks and bank accounts but that the statute of limitations barred prosecution on some of the alleged thefts.

The prosecutor said Lapensohn, in a way, did a good job for the federation, boosting 1953-7 revenues from the publication to $250,000—six times as much as in comparable previous years.

In Albany, Harold Hanover, president of the State Federation, said no Federation employee was involved in the alleged scheme.

"Until the Senate rackets committee uncovered this situation," he said, "no officer or employee had the slightest knowledge of the double-dealing of this man Lapensohn."

Health for All Toward Independence

This is the week we celebrate "the Glorious Fourth," the day that marks the American Declaration of Independence. Our ancestors decided that independence is a good thing for people, and the development of our nation in 182 years seems to prove them right.

Independence isn't just a political affair. People, the same as nations, must be independent to develop properly. Some of us seem to forget this. You've seen people who bring up their children as if they expect them to be dependent for the rest of their lives. They spoil them while they're little and cute, and can't understand why they grow up willful and irresponsible.

In a delightful book titled "The Story of Human Emotions," Dr. George M. Lott, a psychiatrist, gives directions for making your child grow up "with a maximum of handicaps and undesirable character traits." Here they are:

"First, do everything for the child, so he can't learn to do for himself. Lie down with him to get him to sleep. Help him to dress, and do not let him participate. Pick up after him so he won't learn to put away his toys. Usually keep him in so he won't be hurt or get dirty. Allow no playmates of his own age, and take his side and protect him in his struggles with his contemporaries. Deny him little, so that he will expect too much."

Follow the above directions and you are guaranteed that your child will grow up to be a hypochondriac and a spoiled brat. And "when in the course of human events, it becomes necessary" to cut the apron strings, he'll fall flat on his face.

Recent Graduate Killed DAYTON, N. Y. (AP)—Vincent F. Rupp Jr., 17, of Dayton, who was graduated from Gowanda Central High School last week, was killed today when an automobile in which he was riding struck a tree in this Cattaraugus County village.

Sheriff Morgan L. Sigel said the car skidded 165 feet before it hit the tree.

The driver, John Tuchucinski, 18, of Perrysburg, was reported in serious condition at Tri-County Memorial Hospital, Gowanda.

Executives Meet To Discuss Boost In Beer Strike

NEW YORK (AP) — Brewery executives, stymied in contract talks with the Teamsters Union, meet today to decide whether to up their contract offer.

Five New York City breweries shut down last week, claiming union-inspired slowdowns had cut production. The union charged a lockout.

City and state mediators succeeded in getting negotiators for the union and the Brewers Board of Trade together Monday.

After a five-hour session the talks broke up Monday night, indefinitely suspended.

Beer shortages are expected to be felt by the Fourth of July weekend if agreement isn't reached before then.

The five breweries—Liebmann, maker of Rheingold beer; Ruppert, Schlitz, Piel Brothers and Schaefer—produce almost 90 per cent of the beer consumed in New York City, on Long Island and in Westchester County.

Their closing has idled about 7,000 production, packaging and distribution workers, all members of the Teamsters Union.

Dr. John Magallif, Kansas City psychiatrist, took a look at dummy and rather hoped that he could have found some way to psycho-analyze his partner into a three no-trump contract.

There had been no way for the doctor to bid no trump himself. He was looking at that worthless heart doubleton. East signaled with the queen of hearts on the opening lead and West continued the suit. Dummy's king held the second trick and the doctor led a spade from dummy. East played the nine and the doctor covered with the ten. West won the trick and now had no way to beat the contract.

The doctor's spade play had left him with a trump in dummy. West could play a third heart if he wished, but Doctor John could ruff in dummy; enter his own hand with the ace of diamonds and play ace-king and another spade.

If the doctor had banged down ace-king-small of spades West would have forced him with the third heart and eventually beaten the hand.

Incidentally, there was a defense to beat four spades, but it would have required a fantastic opening lead of a low heart. Then West could lead low a second time and get his partner in for a club lead while he still held a master trump.

Business Humming

WESTMORLAND, Calif. (AP)—Customers of Delvin Ashurst get no assurance from him that they won't be stung. He rents bees. The customers are growers of such crops as avocados, squash, cantaloupes, onions, alfalfa and clover. "They have found," said Ashurst, "that yields can be double and even triple because of the thorough pollination caused by the bees."

Late Realization

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—A newspaper survey shows that 12 out of 13 seniors at Tucson High School feel they could have worked harder at their studies. Many of the students indicated they felt the courses should be tougher.

Matter of FACT

Greek gem cutters of about the 5th century B.C. discovered that they could get beautiful results by cutting through the layers of different colors in such stones as onyx, sardonyx, chalcedony and agate. They carved their designs in relief so that the figures stood out in one color from a background of a contrasting color. This was the beginning of the art of cameo cutting.

with separate groups of rebels. U.S. Embassy sources in Havana indicated there might be some report today.

Park Wollam, consul at Santiago, was in contact with forces of Castro's brother Raul northeast of Santiago. Wollam was seeking release of 10 American and two Canadian engineers kidnapped Thursday from a mining development at Moa. The rebels have been quoted as saying these 12 were being well cared for and would be released soon.

Release Expected

The vice consul at Santiago, Robert Wiecha, was in the hills around Guantanamo Bay trying to gain freedom for 28 Navy men and Marines from the U.S. Navy base there. Although there was no word that Wiecha was in contact with the rebels, a Navy spokesman at the base said he did not expect the servicemen to be held long. The location of the remaining captives was not pinpointed. They are two American managers of a nickel plant, seized by eight rebels Monday, and two sugar mill executives, an American and a Canadian.

Castro, whose 19-month guerrilla war to overthrow President Fulgencio Batista quieted down after government victories last April, has accused the United States of aiding Batista. U.S. officials have denied charges that Cuban army planes refueled and rearmed at the Guantanamo naval airfield for attacks on the rebel stronghold in the Sierra Maestra.

Two clashes of rebels and soldiers were reported, meanwhile. One, in which eight rebels and two soldiers were killed Saturday, was near the south central Cuban port of Cienfuegos.

The other clash was reported near Guantanamo. Rebels surprised and killed a lieutenant and five Cuban soldiers and wounded six other soldiers.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP)—Oils paced an irregular stock market rise early this afternoon in active trading. The gains pushed the industrial section of the list into new high ground for 1958.

Key stocks rose from fractions to about a point but there were scattered losers and some unchanged.

Oils moved ahead solidly with some exceptions, notably Union Oil of California which continued to sink.

Steels were narrowly mixed now that steel production has declined following an eight-week rise. Motors barely changed. Chemicals, rails and aircrafts were generally higher. Non-ferrous metals were a bit lower on balance.

U.S. government bonds were unchanged.

Ike Approves

base for development purposes. This still would leave more than two thirds of the new state in federal ownership.

Nearer Soviet Mainland

For the United States, it will extend the limits of the Union within 55 miles of the Soviet mainland.

It will also, advocates say, provide the northern area with the stability and impetus needed to spur development of its economy and attract increased population. Completion of Senate action, after six days of debate, signaled the start of big celebrations in Alaska's larger cities, and an unofficial holiday was in store for many of its residents today.

Bill Is Unchanged

In passing the bill unchanged from that approved by the House May 28, Senate statehood advocates beat back six efforts to sidetrack or amend the bill.

In the final day's drive for passage, the Senate turned down 62-22 a point of order raised by Sen. James O. Eastland (D-Miss) that a provision of Alaska's constitution calling for election of a "short term" senator violated a constitutional requirement that senators be elected for six years.

It also rejected 55-31 a move by Sen. John Stennis (D-Miss) to send the bill to the Senate Armed Services Committee for study of its defense implications; defeated 67-16 a move by Sen. Strom Thurmond (D-SC) to eliminate the northern and western sections of Alaska from the new state, and rejected by voice vote a second Thurmond proposal to require congressional concurrence before the President could make defense withdrawals permitted under the bill.

More Voting Ahead

On the final vote, 31 Democrats and 33 Republicans lined up to support Alaska's bid for admission. Thirteen Democrats and seven Republicans opposed the bill.

Still ahead are votes by Alaskans on accepting immediate statehood, approving state boundaries as set out in the bill and on provisions permitting the President to make national defense withdrawals in the northwest section of the state. Defeat of any one of these propositions would reject statehood.

principles of freedom and justice.

"Recently," he said, "loud and slanderous charges have come from some quarters that law enforcement is gravely impairing the historic liberties of the people. Violent and hateful words, such as 'Gestapo,' have been hurled as descriptions of our efforts."

"The testimony of American law enforcement emphatically refutes these baseless charges. Our record is open for all to see. Unlike totalitarian law enforcement, we have no dark corners to hide. Our day-to-day activities are under the review of the free press and the citizens of the community. As American patriots as well as law enforcement officers, we would have it no other way."

"These reckless charges can only undermine public confidence in law enforcement, weaken its record of democratic achievement and give grist to the propaganda mills of our Communist enemies."

June 1958 was recorded as the driest year since 1954, with a rainfall of 1.57 inches. Rainfall for the year totals 15.29 inches.

De Gaulle Back In Algeria, Puts Off Seeing Critics

ALGIERS (AP) — Premier de Gaulle returned to Algeria today for his second visit in less than a month, facing the possibility of a showdown with French settlers who are angered because he has not pushed the policies they want.

A meeting with the leading critics of his government was postponed, however, as De Gaulle saved Algiers for the last stop on his tour. He landed at Telergma, 30 miles west of Constantine in eastern Algeria.

Grenade Wounds Many

He is to fly to Oran, in west Algeria, and then visit the French Foreign Legion headquarters before coming on to Algiers.

At almost the same time his airliner was landing at Telergma, a nationalist terrorist threw a grenade in downtown Algiers. A dozen persons were wounded.

Once more in his wartime uniform, De Gaulle was met at the airport by a host of military officers. At their head was Gen. Raoul Salan, the military commander in chief in Algeria who also has been running the government since the colonists' May 13 ouster of the Paris-appointed civilian regime.

De Gaulle came last, on June 4, as a conquering hero cheered wildly by the settlers and soldiers whose defiance of the Paris government had recalled him to power.

Then disenchantment set in. The military-civilian Public Safety Committees formed after the May 13 insurrection complained De Gaulle had failed to wipe out the influence of the center and left-wing parties who have ruled postwar France.

Avoids Movement

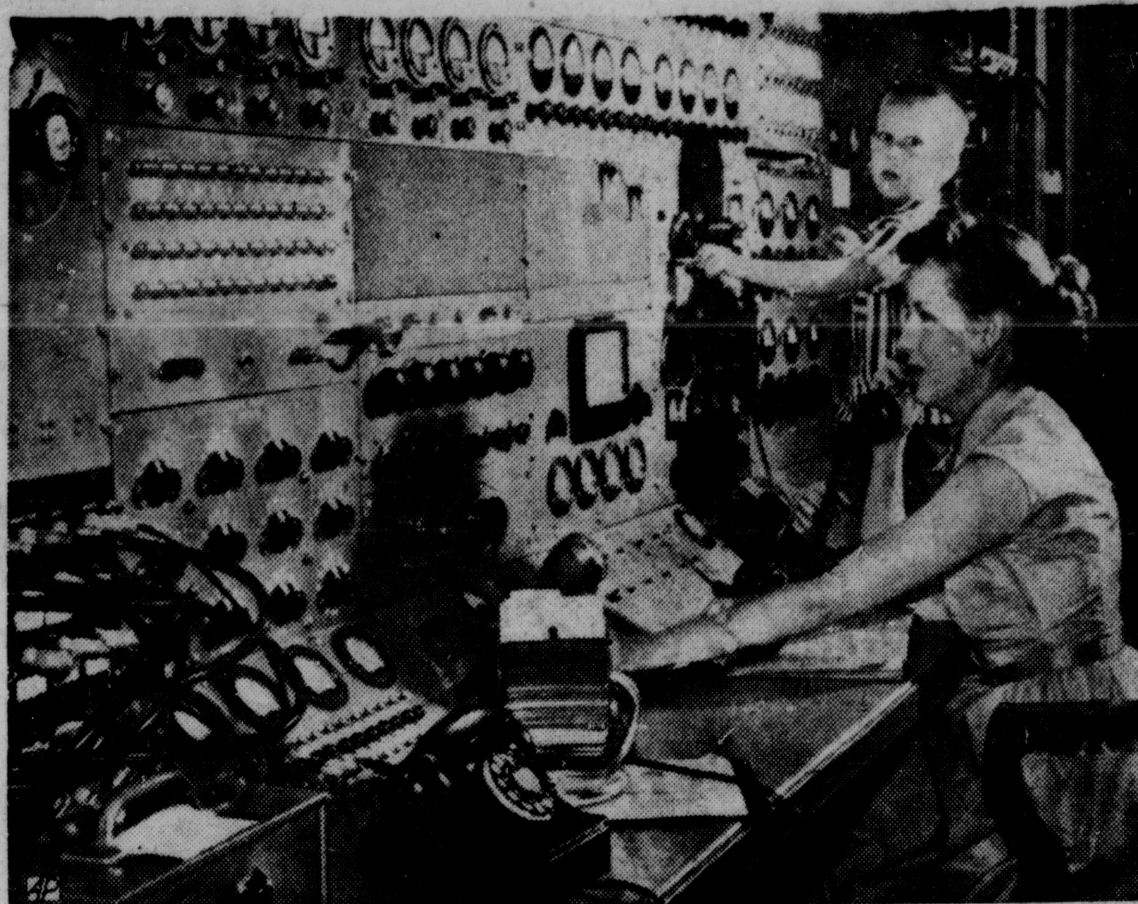

Although the general proclaimed that "Algeria is French," he showed no sign of being caught up in the settlers' movement to integrate Algeria as a province of metropolitan France. That would submerge the nine million Algerian Moslems among the 43 million Frenchmen on both sides of the Mediterranean.

De Gaulle, who claims he had no part in the conspiracy that resulted in the May 13 rebellion, has acted as though he owes Algeria's right-wing settlers no political debts. None of them has been rewarded with a key post in his Cabinet. He has told the Public Safety committees they have no governmental role in Algeria.

As the date of the Premier's second trip approached, the committees suppressed their grumbling. But the war veteran groups who took major roles in the May defiance of Paris sounded their discontent loud and clear.

They asserted their "revolution must be fully achieved — it must grow from a regional to a national movement or else it will remain dangerously incomplete."

The implication was that another May 13 could be organized, this time against De Gaulle, if the Premier does not clean house in

'Cat on Hot Tin Roof' Opens Playhouse Season Tonight

New faces and old favorites and a strict adherence to the "no-star" policy highlight the opening of the seventh season of the Woodstock Playhouse under the ownership of A. L. Sainer tonight at 8:30 o'clock.

The kickoff play is Tennessee Williams' brilliant and controversial Pulitzer Prize winning "Cat On A Hot Tin Roof." The performance is expected to attract a capacity crowd and will launch what Playhouse personnel believe will be the greatest season of theatre since Sainer took over the Playhouse in 1952.

Cyril Simon returns as director for the third year and William Carr starts his fourth season as business manager.

As in the past Woodstock Playhouse will feature a resident company. Actors will be added or dropped as the season progresses.

Michael Myers, who thrilled Playhouse audiences a couple of years ago, will be seen in the leading female role of "The Cat" tonight and is also scheduled to appear in "Separate Tables."

She has just returned from a triumphant national tour of a "Cat" group. Among the new actors to be seen by Woodstock audiences for the first time are Frank Raiter, who has had considerable stage and TV experience in England; Wayne Maxwell, who will play major roles in "Compulsion" and "The Matchmaker;" Ann White-side, who is due in the same two plays and Pat McMurray.

McMurray is a child actor who finished the New York run of "Rope Dancers" will take the same part in the Woodstock production.

Strickland Installed As Rotary President

Stewart C. Strickland of Shovel Road was installed as president of the Woodstock Rotary Club last night at Deanie's.

Retiring president Walter S. Van Wageningen handed the gavel to Strickland near the end of last night's meeting and in a brief speech Strickland thanked the members for their confidence in him and praised Van Wageningen for his excellent job.

Justice of the Peace Joseph S. Forno gave a preliminary report on the auction sale planned by Rotary after the annual Library fair. He said that storage space had been obtained for material that will be collected after the Library Fair and said he had received offers of volunteer transportation. Several members of the club also pledged their assistance in collecting and assembling the material.

The club noted that three of its members Van Wageningen (26th), Lou Wald (28) and Harry Alpern (33) had observed wedding anniversaries this month.

A communication seeking information on the possible revival of the village Information Center was tabled.

Special Selections At Rudolph Galleries

Art-lovers, including Woodstock year-round residents and holiday week-enders, are being treated to a rare event by Lillian Fiolic, Director of Rudolph Galleries. Mrs. Fiolic is offering a specially chosen selection of paintings, oil and water-color, as well as drawings, done by artists who belong to the Rudolph Galleries group. This unusual event will extend only through Fourth of July week-end.

Rudolph Galleries is Woodstock's oldest, most famous private galleries, internationally known for the quality of its artists and sculptors, whose achievements rank among the first in the contemporary art world.

News of the extraordinary sales event is being received with lively interest by all those who have hoped to one day have in their homes the works of the superb artists Mrs. Fiolic features in her beautiful, well-conducted galleries.

Chess Master Defeats Forty-Six

Samuel Reshevsky, internationally famous chess master, defeated 46 opponents in a simultaneous exhibition Sunday at the Woodstock school.

With few exceptions, Reshevsky defeated his opponents with ease. The exhibition, sponsored jointly by the Woodstock Chess Club and the Kings Knight Chess Club of Kingston, was a tremendous success. Many spectators watched the matches despite the warm weather prevailing outside. It took three hours to complete the matches.

Mrs. John Striebel New Foundation President

Mrs. John Striebel has been elected president of the Woodstock Foundation.

She succeeds E. N. Goddard at whose home the annual election meeting was held on Sunday, June 29.

Other officers named were: Jules Viglielmo, vice president; Ruth Tuck, secretary, and Margo Taylor, corresponding secretary.

Frielan VanDeBogart To Head Field Day

Frielan VanDeBogart of Bearsville has been named chairman of the Woodstock Riding Club's annual Field Day on Sunday, Aug. 17.

VanDeBogart was designated at the club's meeting last night. It was announced that nineteen events, including fun on horseback and other informal activities will be included on the program.

Further details will be announced later.

Says H-Bomb Area Halt Piracy Act

HONOLULU (AP)—The yacht Phoenix approached the off-limits U. S. H-bomb test area in the Pacific today under Navy surveillance after its skipper declared his intention to enter the danger zone.

"I regard any interference on the high seas as an act of piracy. They will have to sink me to take me," said Earle L. Reynolds, a former professor of anthropology at Antioch College, Ohio.

"We're not going to let anyone commit suicide on the high seas," a Navy spokesman responded, but declined to say what action would be taken. The Phoenix, carrying skipper-owner Reynolds, 48; his wife; son and daughter; and a Japanese crewman, Niichi Mikami, left Honolulu June 11 with Hiroshima its announced destination. All five are outspoken opponents of nuclear tests.

The 50-foot yacht was less than 100 miles from the prohibited Eniwetok test area Monday when the Coast Guard cutter Planetree hailed it and asked Reynolds' sailing intentions.

The Navy quoted the skipper as saying he intended to enter the off-limits zone and realized he was endangering his crew and yacht.

Considers Two-Bill

NEW YORK (AP)—Maurice Evans is eyeing a London twin-bill for his next starring Broadway venture. The two plays are "The Dock Brief" and "What Shall We Tell Caroline," by John Mortimer.

Evans previously appeared on Broadway in 1949 in the Terence Rattigan duo "The Browning Version" and "Harlequinade," played here last year in a revival of "The Apple Cart."

Special Air of Expectancy Awaits Goldfine Testimony

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—Waiting for Bernard Goldfine to testify is like waiting for the launching of a satellite. The results of both are unpredictable.

This fast-talking, gift-giving millionaire friend of presidential assistant Sherman Adams is due to testify Wednesday before a House subcommittee looking into his relations with Adams and with government regulatory agencies.

Washington, long used to having spectacular individuals appear before committees, has a special air of expectancy about Boston businessman Goldfine. He talks rapidly and volubly, and seems to throw around expensive gifts and favors to men in political office or positions of political power.

Time magazine last month quoted him as saying that when someone like him has problems: "Who do you go to? Why, you go to your congressman or your senator or to your governor, not to some shmo."

The Washington Post in a special story from Boston Sunday—outlining the efforts of Goldfine's lawyers to drill him for his appearance here—gave a pretty clear impression he's hard man to handle, even by his own lawyers.

Not Good With Words

One of them was quoted as saying: "He will make a terrible witness. He's hard of hearing and he doesn't answer questions well. He's not good with words."

"It is constitutionally impossible for him to give a simple answer. You can't tell what will happen when he gets on the stand."

Even Goldfine's actions appear unpredictable. He had a date with his lawyers at noon, the Post said, and showed up at 6 p. m. The next night he didn't show up at all.

Adams has said he let Goldfine pay hotel bills for him, amounting to more than $2,000, and before the same subcommittee said he had received vicuna cloth for a coat and the loan of an expensive Oriental rug from Goldfine.

Spread of Money
Adams described all this as part of a personal and friendly relationship extending back for years. Goldfine, who came to this country a poor immigrant, seems from other testimony before the subcommittee to have spread a lot of money and a lot of favors in a lot of places.

For example: Gov. Lane Dwinell, a former political associate of Adams, says Goldfine gave a suit of clothes to every governor in the nation at the 1955 Governor's Conference.

And John Fox, former publisher of the now defunct Boston Post, said he borrowed $400,000 from Goldfine. Goldfine even sent a bolt of cloth to President Eisenhower whose press secretary, James Hagerty, said Eisenhower gave it away.

The subcommittee subpoenaed Goldfine's companies' records, going back to 1925, and any records of money he spent on state or federal employees going back to 1950. What isn't known yet is whether—or how—the subcommittee will try to dig into Goldfine's income tax returns to see:

1. Whether the money he spent on gifts for political figures like Adams were considered by him to be just friendly gifts, as Adams says he considered them, or—
2. Whether Goldfine actually considered them business expenses and so deducted them from his income tax returns.

Is Advice to Jealous Wife

"My husband seems to take great delight in making me jealous," writes a wife.

"He is always raving about how good-looking some girl is. He never misses a chance to flirt with a waitress or to be extravagant in his compliments to other women. Since I can't help being jealous, what can I do to make him stop trying to keep me constantly stirred up?"

You can spoil his fun by failing to react the way you always have in the past and the way he expects you to.

Next time he raves about how good-looking some other woman is, out-rave him. Agree to all he says and point out a few things he hasn't mentioned.

When he flirts with a waitress join in the banter, instead of sulking. Instead of acting like a hurt wife, act like a gay companion who couldn't care less.

Add your compliments to his when he starts paying them to another woman. And, above all, when you get him alone keep right on being gay and unconcerned.

If you can manage to do all this—and it's a big order for a jealous wife—you ought to have everything under control in short order.

For there is no point in trying to make a wife jealous if she obviously isn't the least bit concerned. In fact, if you do your play-acting convincingly, your husband will probably be so surprised he will begin to wonder WHY you aren't jealous any more—and then he can do the worrying and wondering, for a change.

But go on showing your jealousy and your husband will continue to feed his ego by stirring you up at every opportunity.

Poetic Justice

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—A little girl darted between parked cars on a downtown street. Her mother grabbed her, slapped her wrist and warned her about crossing the street. Then Patrolman Boye Clark walked up and cited the mother for jaywalking. He said she crossed the street with her daughter in the middle of the block.

Much Too Deep

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—City Councilman Phil J. Bagley, Jr., looked at the excavation for new dog pound, already 12 feet deep. "How come?" he asked. Told that it was the site of an old dump which made it necessary to dig deep to get a solid foundation, Bagley said it might be cheaper to find another location. "At the rate they are going," he said, "they will have more money under the ground than above."

JUNEAU, Alas. (AP) — Alaskans caught their breath today after tossing the wildest celebration since gold rush days, and looked ahead to a problem-packed future as the nation's biggest state.

They poured it on Monday night, with whistles, sirens, horns, bells and fireworks as they cheered news of the Senate's passage of the statehood bill. Street dances followed parades. In Sitka, one-time capital of Russian Alaska, drinks were on the house.

The high court upheld Monday a contempt conviction against a Bronx manufacturer who, although offered immunity, declined to answer a county grand jury's questions on the ground that what he said could be used in a federal prosecution.

At least it's fun to be an optimist and believe that everything you plant in the garden will come up.

Why We Say--

ADAM'S APPLE

ADAM: This term for the peculiar projection at the front of the throats of males was so named because it was believed that a piece of the forbidden fruit in the garden of Eden stuck in Adam's throat and caused the protrusion.

Mr. Williams has hired Sambo to paint his shed at the stipulated price of $2.50. Reappearing on the scene some time later he found Sambo lying in the shade, enjoying himself, while another negro was busy wielding the brush.

The theme of modern living is "togetherness." This means that pop washes the dishes before he starts building the porch furniture so that mother can get her P-TA telephoning done in time to drop junior at the scout meet-

COLD FEET . . . ?

A generation ago some people thought rubbing the soles of the feet with grease would ward off a head cold. Today, we know better. Adequate rest and a well-balanced diet go a long way toward preventing colds. But, sometimes even the best precautions aren't good enough. When you are ill—whether you have a cold or something more serious—effective medications are important. They can be the difference between pain or comfort . . . slow or fast recovery. Let your physician decide the remedies you need. Then come to us for the prescribed medication.

Must Return to Coast To Face Theft Charge

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—Larry H. Gunning, 35, has been ordered returned to Federal Court in California to face charges stemming from a $100,000 jewel robbery.

Federal District Judge Justin C. Morgan issued the order Monday at a removal hearing. Gordon Eddy, agent for the Federal Bureau of Investigation, testified that Gunning admitted the robbery in a signed statement.

The FBI captured Gunning in Buffalo June 14, three days after two men stole $100,000 in jewels, furs and cash from the home of millionaire Samuel Hayden in Beverly Hills, Calif. The loot was recovered.

John T. Russell, 24, an actor and the son of a wealthy family in Brainerd, Minn., surrendered in California Sunday. He was charged with kidnapping and robbery in the case.

World Briefs

DUBLIN (AP)—Dublin today had a woman mayor for the second time.

Slight, graying Mrs. Catherine Byrne, a Scots-born widow in her late 50s, was elected by the city council Monday night. She defeated Robert Briscoe, who two years ago became the first Jewish lord mayor of the predominantly Irish Catholic capital.

Dublin's other woman mayor was another widow, Mrs. Kathleen Clarke.

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Railway workers faced a large job of moving backlogged freight today after agreeing to end a five-day strike that paralyzed Mexico's government-run railroads.

The agreement to resume work immediately came Monday night when President Adolfo Ruiz Cortines said he would study demands for pay increases of 250 pesos ($20) a month.

TAIPEI (AP)—Fifty-seven cadets of the U. S. Air Force Academy arrived in Taipei today from Okinawa. They are on a 22-day tour of major American and Allied military installations in the Pacific.

The group will fly to Hong Kong Wednesday. Then visit the Philippines and Hawaii before returning to their academy at Denver, Colo.

PLATTSBURGH, N. Y. (AP)—John P. Myers, former chancellor of the Board of Regents, is on the way to complete recovery from the heart attack he suffered June 7, his family says.

The 72-year-old Myers was released Sunday night from Moses Ludington Hospital in Ticonderoga, where he was taken the night he was stricken. The banker-businessman plans to take a month's rest.

Myers suffered the attack while en route to Poughkeepsie, N. Y., to speak at the Green Mountain Junior College commencement.

Phoning in the Dark

NORTHLAKE, Ill. (AP)—An illuminated telephone dial has been developed. It takes the guesswork and eyestrain out of night-time telephone dialing in an unlighted room. The design incorporates a "Panelent" lamp as the source of light that shows through translucent numerals and letters. No bulbs, tubes, filaments or cathodes are required in this lamp. It consists of a porcelainized steel sheet with a ceramic-phosphor coating. It utilizes the principle of electro-luminescence—the creation of light through the excitation of certain phosphors placed in an electric field. Developed by Sylvania Electric Products, Inc., the lamp is said to have a useful life of 30,000 hours.

PURGE ARTIST—In the wake of Soviet boss Nikita Khrushchev's current "de-Stalinization" program, the sinister figure of secret police chief Ivan Alexandrovich Serov, above, has stepped into prominence in recent months. A collaborator with Khrushchev in the purges of the 1930's and the crushing of the 1956 Hungarian revolt, Serov's rising star has focussed attention on the resurrection of the security force, whose power was almost smashed with the execution of its former leader, Lavrenti Beria, two years ago.

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

I like what Peter Freuchen says in his "Book of the Seven Seas." That is "Everybody talks about the Seven Seas, but hardly anyone can name them or tell just where one begins and the other leaves off . . . For in fact the whole ocean is a single expanse of water with the continents just islands in it." I often wondered about that, how do we know where the Roundout Creek becomes the Hudson River, there is no visible dividing line. Freuchen then goes on to tell about Rudyard Kipling whose poem "The Seven Seas" came out in 1896 and how the geographers divide the ocean into seven parts.

In case folks are interested, the map is full of seas but in Seven Seas of ancient times as: Mediterranean, Red, China, West African, East African, Indian Ocean and Persian Gulf. Then he gives the modern list of: Arctic, Antarctic, North Atlantic, South Atlantic, North Pacific, South Pacific and Indian. He then tells how each sea has its own individuality, like the North Atlantic is the saltiest, although the Red Sea and Persian Gulf are salty enough because it is so hot and dry there that evaporation is very fast. He considers the Atlantic the "wettest ocean," because it gets half of all the rain that falls in the world, not so much directly as by run-off from the rivers, like no doubt our own Hudson. The Pacific gets the least rain as to its size. The Arctic and Antarctic the least salty oceans because they are always being diluted with melting ice and have no rivers to bring them salts from the land. Se we in our little snug Esopus Creek, Roundout Creek and Hudson Valley are a part of a vast body of water of the entire world.

He tells about the earth's water being tied up in glaciers, enough that if a substantial part would melt it could cause oceans to rise about 100 feet. If it all turned to water, a very remote possibility, the sea level might rise some 500 or 600 feet. I think it is better not to picture events like that. But we mortals live by the water and are in constant need of fresh water for our personal use and for growth of our foods, still we want the waters of the earth to stay where they are and behave themselves.

He writes further, if the glaciers did melt, "In the first case, most of the Atlantic seaboard of the United States, including the big cities, would disappear; the shore line would move to the base of the Appalachian mountains, with a few islands to indicate where several states used to be. A like problem would upset the other continents and countries. He believes that there has been four such vast changes in the last million years or so but that it will take thousands of years for drastic changes. Although a sudden change in one of the major ocean currents, or its destruction by an undersea earthquake could change things quickly. He tells how all the nations depend so much on the Gulf Stream and when some vast man-made changes are made like a channel other countries fear the Gulf Stream may change its course. It seems men even had dreams of digging a canal from the sea into the lowlands of the Sahara Desert to create a big inland body of water so the riches of the Africa interior could be reached but the scientists stopped it because the new sea might cause volcanic eruptions elsewhere. Such are the struggles of man versus nature.

New Jersey Gas Goes Up Penny

TRENTON, N. J. (AP) — A penny-a-gallon increase in the state gasoline tax went into effect today.

The new levy, estimated to produce $17,700,000 a year for the state, is to go for building new roads for which no federal aid is available.

Motorists now pay eight cents gasoline tax — five for the state and three for the federal government.

Iron ore was first discovered in Minnesota in 1850. Minnesota is now this country's largest iron ore producing state.

Wayward Bus Plot Strikes Once Again

DUBUQUE, Iowa (AP)—Ollie Wilson, 19, of the Bronx, N. Y., was thinking about anything but a busman's holiday as he pondered his fate in the county jail today.

The ex-navyman was arrested near here Monday, still sitting behind the wheel of the $42,000 bus he took from the Port of Authority bus terminal parking lot in New York Sunday.

A highway patrolman spotted the 41-passenger, air-conditioned vehicle stuck in a ditch on Highway 20 near Farley, Iowa.

Authorities quoted Wilson as saying he took the bus to get to California.

"I saw the bus standing there, I just jumped in and took off," he said.

Dubuque is about 1,000 miles from New York City. Wilson told authorities he drove all night, stopping to refuel. He had about $125 on him when arrested.

In New York, Wilson's mother Mrs. Mary Wilson, exclaimed when told he had stolen a bus, "What, again?"

She said Ollie had taken a bus from the Port Authority parking lot in January 1957 — it had been picked up in Port Chester, N. Y.

"He likes to travel," she said, "and he's just crazy about driving."

In the United States in 1957 more than 7 million pleasure boats and more than 5 million outboard motors were used by sailing enthusiasts.

Think It Through

By E. F. HUTTON
HIGHER EDUCATION

Little Rock holds the record for the cost of education. It is estimated that the cost of U. S. Army troops at Little Rock last year was 4,500,000 $'s. For each of the Negro students this comes to 500,000 $'s per student.

First were the 1000 battle-ready U. S. troops flown in to enforce a Judge's orders. Then 10,000 Arkansas National Guardsmen were called into Federal service, from which a platoon was constantly on duty.

When school closed the troops were withdrawn, but what happens when school reopens this fall?

The Little Rock school board has had all it can take of this "noble experiment" of education at bayonet point. It has asked the Federal Court which issued the original order, to call it off until at least 1961.

At a cost which would have built two fine school buildings, nothing has been solved. Racial tension has been aggravated, not reduced. Governor Faubus is an overwhelming favorite for reelection.

Even the local head of the N.A.A.C.P. says she will not urge the Negro children to return this fall.

Meantime, the country has been filled with the nonsense that a court order is "the law of the land."

The whole sorry mess is another example of the "crucifix with a sword."

When Branch Rickey put Jackie Robinson in Big League, he did more for the Negro race than swords and bayonets.

Jury to Resume In Dutchman's Case

NEW YORK (AP)—A Federal Court jury tries again today to reach a verdict in the case of Henry (The Dutchman) Grunewald and two others charged with conspiring to fix income tax prosecutions.

Judge William B. Herlands had the panel locked up in a hotel shortly before midnight Monday night. The nine men and three women jurors had reported they were "hopelessly deadlocked."

Herlands said that according to his calculations they had actually deliberated 4 hours and 45 minutes. He added:

"This is not an excessive or unusual length of time" in respect to the trial's length. It began last May 7.

Grunewald, 65-year-old Washington influence peddler, is on trial with Daniel A. Bolich, former assistant Internal Revenue commissioner, and Max Halperin, a New York lawyer.

They were convicted on the charge in 1955 but the U. S. Supreme Court reversed the conviction on a legal technicality.

Plans Busy Season

NEW YORK (AP) — Director Elia Kazan has lined up a busy assignment schedule for next season on Broadway.

He has agreed to stage three dramatic entries. In chronological order they are "The Night Circus," by Michael V. Gazzo, "J. B." by Archibald MacLeish, and "Sweet Bird of Youth," by Tennessee Williams.

Kazan this season was mentor of the smash hit "The Dark at the Top of the Stairs."

The famous Langelinie Pavilion in Copenhagen destroyed by the Nazis in 1944, has been rebuilt in modern Danish style.

De Molay Forms With Class of 30

Colonial Chapter, Order of DeMolay, was reactivated Friday night at Masonic Temple, 31 Albany Avenue, with an initial class of 30 young men.

Sonny Rabie, PMC of Hugh B. Bull Chapter of Walden, presided as acting master councilor for the conferring of the initiatory degree.

The charge was delivered by Walter G. Seely, RW, active member of the International Supreme Council, Order of DeMolay, Eastern New York jurisdiction.

Following a brief recess, the DeMolay was dramatized by the W. Parker Smith Chapter, Spring Valley, under the direction of Niel Favre, master councilor.

A picnic meeting is planned for early August at which time the officers of Colonial Chapter will be elected and appointed. Plans also are underway for Queen City Chapter of Poughkeepsie to install the officers in a public ceremony in September.

The class included the following:

Robert S. Whitaker, Douglas

Johansen, Stephan Kirschner, Frederick T. Weber, Bruce C. Houghtaling, Henry E. Vickery, William C. Vickery, Richard A. Storms, Glenn E. Miller, William J. Burke, Kenneth H. Brink, William B. Grossman Jr., William M. Craft.

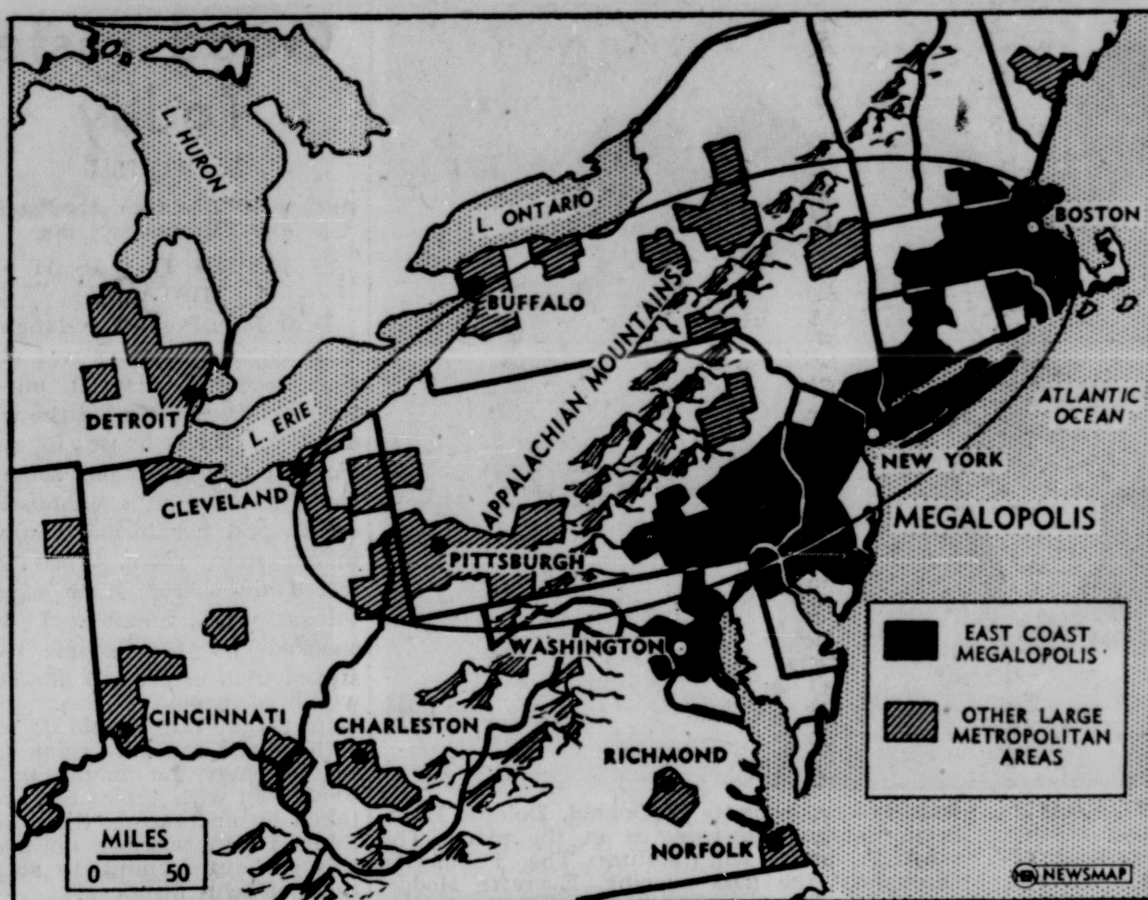

Also, David D. Taylor, Raymond B. Cord Jr., Glen L. Bohnke, Joseph E. St. Paul Jr., Carl B. Gillic, Kenneth D. Yates, Roland C. Craig, Donald R. Avallone, Charles E. Khederian, Roger W. Street Names Sought HANOLULU (AP)—City planners are hard put to find names for new streets in Honolulu.

In the past, Hawaiian names have been used but most of these have already been used up. Worse yet, dangers lurk in trying to combine English and Hawaiian words.

Said one city planner: "In working out new names, we've actually come up with some immoral words without knowing it."

URBANIZED AMERICA—The eastern seaboard of the United States (black area on Newsmap) is the largest and most complex urban system in the world. The Greeks, as usual, had a word for it: "megalopolis"—or great city. The American megalopolis, of course, is not one great, single city, but a concentration of large and small cities and counties with a metropolitan, urban, economy. A study of megalopolis by the Twentieth Century Fund shows that similar concentrations are growing to the west of the Appalachians (shaded areas). As modern techniques enable more food to be grown on less land, and as a greater percentage of the population turns to urban activities, the cities are destined to expand. Ellipse on map suggests a vast megalopolis of the future which seems to be shaping up.

Chiang Would Halt Certain Newspapers

CHICAGO (AP)—Chiang Kai-Shek of Nationalist China is determined to secure passage of a law that would permit authorities to stop publication of Formosan newspapers deemed offensive to his government, it was reported today.

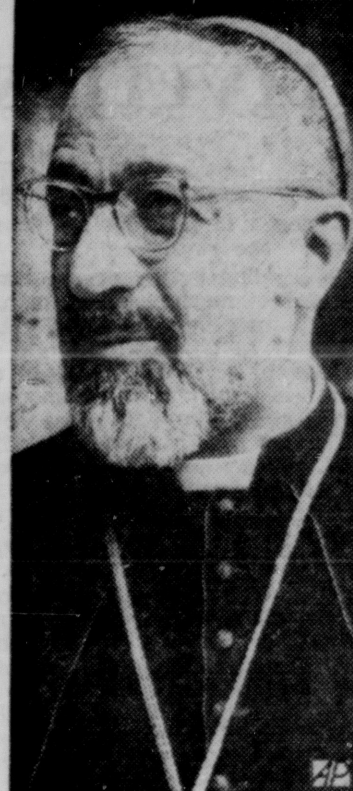

The generalissimo told an American professor of journalism, now teaching at the National Political University in Taipei, Formosa, that the proposed bill was an attempt to protect legitimate newspapers, while defending the country from "neutralism" and other effects of Communist infiltration.

The bill, bitterly assailed by newspaper editors on Formosa, is in the Legislative Yuan (Parliament).

Dr. Howard R. Long reported on his interview with President Chiang, Premier O. K. Yu and other Nationalist Chinese officials in the July issue of Quill Magazine, published today. Long is on leave of absence from Southern Illinois University, where he is chairman of the department of journalism.

Omelet Count Down

WHITE SANDS PROVING GROUND, N. M. (AP)—A mamma meadowlark, with better maternal instinct than eyesight, picked a perilous place for her nest. She deposited a clutch of seven tiny eggs on the launcher of a Talos missile. Technicians said they would move the eggs before firing, then put them back.

NAMED—Gregory Peter XV Cardinal Azagian has been appointed by Pope Pius as acting chief of Roman Catholic missions throughout the world. He assumes duty intended for Chicago's Cardinal Stritch who died before taking the post.

In the American-financed oil fields in Sumatra, workers have to use snow tires and chains to get their trucks over the muddy tropical roads.

Javits Votes Alaska For State, Not Ives

WASHINGTON (AP)—New York's two Republican senators split Monday when the Senate gave final passage to the Alaska statehood bill.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits was among the ayes in the 64-20 roll call vote.

Sen. Irving M. Ives did not vote but was announced as paired with Republican Sen. J. Glenn Beall of Maryland, Beall in favor, Ives against.

South Schodack Man to Administer New Fruit Order

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—Spencer G. Duncan of South Schodack will administer the state's new fruit-marketing order that goes into effect today.

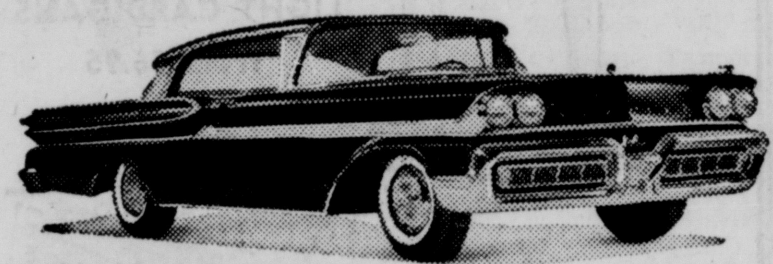

The order, which covers sour cherries sold for processing, is the first in the state dealing with fruit. It was approved by cherry growers in a statewide referendum last week.

Agriculture Commissioner Daniel J. Carey designated Duncan Monday to serve as administrator, in addition to his other duties as assistant director of the Agriculture Department's markets division. Duncan's $8,966-a-year salary will remain the same.

Under the order, an assessment of up to $3 a ton will be imposed on all sour cherries sold for processing. The funds will be used to promote and advertise sour cherries.

State Farmers Protest Law on Extra Licenses

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—New York farmers will need chauffeurs' licenses to drive farm trucks, beginning next May 30. Many farmers, it appears, don't like the idea.

To smooth ruffled feelings, Gov. Harriman Monday invited E. S. Foster, executive secretary of the New York Farm Bureau, to attend a meeting here July 11 of the advisory committee that recommended the new law. The motor vehicle commissioner also will sit in.

In his letter to Foster, Harriman pointed out that the law would not go into effect for nearly a year. The 1959 Legislature, he added, still has time to make "adjustments," if necessary.

Foster protested to the governor that farmers would have to obtain extra licenses. Their sons under 18 could not qualify for chauffeurs' licenses, Foster noted, and therefore would be barred from driving farm vehicles.

The law will establish a new class of licenses for drivers of heavy trucks. Drivers of smaller trucks have to be licensed as chauffeurs.

Now, a 17-year-old holding a junior operators license may drive farm vehicles. Applicants for chauffeurs licenses must be at least 18.

The Indian chief Tecumseh fought against the Americans in the War of 1812 as a brigadier-general in the British army.

Weather Outlook For Next 30 Days

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Weather Bureau said Monday its 30-day outlook for July calls for temperatures to average above seasonal normals in the southern half of the country from the Rockies to the Atlantic.

The bureau added:

"Below normal temperatures are anticipated in the plateau region and also in states along the northern border from the Great Lakes to the Pacific. In areas not specified, temperatures should average not far from normal."

"Rainfall is expected to exceed normal in the Upper Mississippi Valley, Northern Plains, and Pacific Northwest. Near normal amounts are predicted over New England, the Great Lakes region, the Central Plains, and the Gulf and South Atlantic coasts. In the remainder of the nation subnormal rainfall is in prospect."

Myrtlewood is said to grow only in the Holy Land and in the coast region of Oregon. It is used to make wood dishes.

Older Women Going Back to Earning After Family Raised

By DOROTHY ROE

Associated Press Women's Editor
Older women are getting younger all the time, says Dr. Winfred G. Helmes, who works on the womanpower program for the U. S. Department of Labor.

"When I speak of older women, I mean those who want to go back to work after their children are big enough to look out for themselves," she says.

"Now that girls are getting married so much younger, many, after raising their families, may be ready to go back to work at the age of 35. When you look at some of our most glamorous movie stars, you will agree that 35 is not old, or even middle aged. But a woman who has been out of the business world for 15 years faces the same problems in returning, at any age.

Can Write Own Ticket

"The greatest demand for women workers," continued Dr. Helmes, is in "nursing, teaching and secretarial work. Any woman who is trained in any of these fields can practically write her own ticket. She can have full or part-time work. She can fit the job into her personnel schedule."

Dr. Helmes is deeply interested in the program of getting mature women back into paying jobs.

"There's still another field that offers both the greatest need and the greatest opportunity for the woman of mature years, whose children are grown and whose life has been spent at homemaking and raising children. Such a woman could start a whole new life as housekeeper for a family—and there are many desperately in need of just such a 'substitute mother.'"

Working for New Name

"Professional women with families always are trying to find someone intelligent and responsible to take over their households and take care of their children. Widowers with children are in the same situation. And there are many families in which the wife likes to accompany her husband on business trips, but needs someone to keep things in order on the home front.

"The chief difficulty here is to find a new name for the job of housekeeper—one that does not suggest the status of servant."

Hyde Park Playhouse Opens Season With Refreshing Comedy

Many weeks of preparation by members of a resident company at Hyde Park Playhouse culminated in the presentation of "Visit to a Small Planet" Monday night.

The delightful comedy was both refreshing and entertaining, according to Dick McCarthy, Freeman Staff reporter.

Five curtain calls evidenced the wonderful reception the entire cast received from the enthusiastic audience.

Sydney Walker, who played the lead, and Edwin Christie were lauded for their performances as well as all others in the presentation.

Considering the humid weather, Hyde Park players were gratified to see a good audience on their opening night.

The production will continue on stage through Saturday with a matinee on that day at 2:30 p. m.

Evening curtain is at 8:40 p. m. "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof" will be the play for July 7-12. Rehearsals are already in progress and area residents are promised another treat in fine acting.

Good Taste Today

By EMILY POST

Author of "Children Are People" and "Etiquette" etc.
ASSUME IT WAS BY MISTAKE

Dear Mrs. Post: The daughter of a neighbor of ours was married recently. Several out-of-town relatives attended the wedding. As their house is quite small, I offered to put some of the guests up at my house. A cousin and her husband stayed in our spare room. When they left I discovered some of my things were missing. I was shocked as the couple who stayed with us seemed like such well-bred people. I can hardly believe that they would do such a thing and can only think that these things got mixed up in some way with theirs and were taken by mistake. Is there anything I can possibly do about this without seeming to accuse them of being dishonest?

Answer: Write to them and ask if by any chance a blue slip, or a hair brush, or whatever is missing, was packed by mistake with their things.

An Anniversary Dinner

Dear Mrs. Post: At my parents' golden-wedding anniversary dinner being given for them by all the children, how are they seated at the table and who is seated in the places nearest to them?

Answer: Your mother is seated at your father's right. It is a rule to seat their original wedding attendants next to them if any are present. Otherwise, seat the eldest children—especially if they are not living in the same house—next to them. Or if all the children are living at home and are seated with them at every meal, every day, give these honor places to their best friends.

Acknowledging a Courtesy

Dear Mrs. Post: When a strange man steps aside to let me enter an elevator, or a bus, before him, is it proper to say "thank you" or is this courtesy taken for granted? A friend of mine insists that this is overdoing politeness.

Answer: "Thank you" briefly said is never overdoing politeness.

What size are table napkins, and how should they be folded? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail, but you will find the answers to these questions included in leaflet E-32, "Table Linen." To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to Dept. EP, care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

SAUGERTIES NEWS Game Club Group Favors 40-Acre Site for $5,000

A 40-acre tract in Mt. Marion costing $5,000 has received the approval of the Saugerties Fish and Game Club's building committee as a site for its proposed clubhouse, it was reported Monday night at a meeting of the club in Saugerties Municipal Building.

Arthur Spert said that he and the committee had examined the property which has about 300 feet of frontage on Churchland Road, and found it satisfactory for the proposed clubhouse. He said it is easily accessible by road in all kinds of weather.

Must Raise Money

Although authorization to purchase the site was not given the committee, Vice President John J. Kaminski, who presided in the absence of President Harold E. Van Voorhis, on vacation, appointed a committee to study plans for raising the money needed to purchase the land. They are: Carlton B. King, Ross Snyder and Walter B. Pettinger.

It was suggested from the floor that the club raise the money by selling shares to the members in a program used by some fire companies for building their fire houses. The club currently has about 134 members. It was suggested that if each of only 100 members purchased a $50 share, the $5,000 would be assured.

The shares could be paid off by the club as funds were made available and names of shareholders selected by lot for redemption of shares at various times of the year. It was estimated that the clubhouse site could be paid for in slightly more than 10 years.

The committee includes Mrs. Marian Eckert and Mrs. Marita Stay, dance chairman. All members of the council will function on the block party committee.

Objection to Sites Main Road Blocks

ITHACA, N. Y. (AP) — Public objection to proposed locations is one of the major obstacles to highway construction, an officer of the American Road Builders Assn. said today.

Maj. Gen. Louis W. Prentiss (ret.), executive vice president of the association, addressed 250 town and highway superintendents at a three-day school on the Cornell University campus.

In prepared remarks, he urged the superintendents to try to educate the public about road plans. "Take the offensive in areas of controversy," he said, "and seek help of newspaper editors, bankers and other civic leaders by giving them the facts and your reasons behind decisions."

SAGE at Stewart

STEWART AIR FORCE BASE, N. Y. (AP) — The Air Force Monday let the public in on a 30 million dollar electronic system designed to point out enemy planes or missiles and bring defenders into action.

Twenty-three newsmen were taken on a tour of the facility by Col. Gladwyn Pinkston, commander of the Boston air defense sector which includes most of New England part of New York State. The system known as "SAGE" — semi-automatic ground environment — is one of 29 to be installed at strategic points around the nation's perimeter in regional defense sectors.

Col. Pinkston said "SAGE" was devised because manually operated systems are too slow to stop modern weapons. "Man can't think fast enough," he said.

The center will work like a giant brain. Other defense elements will feed it information and then the electronic brain will act on the basis of lightning-fast deductions.

Nixon to Rescue

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Nixon Monday came to the rescue of a flustered chairman, Mrs. Rollway Collier, who began to introduce him as "president" of the United States and then hastily corrected herself.

Nixon told the audience amid laughter at a luncheon in honor of Spyros P. Skouras, president of 20th Century-Fox Film Corp. "It's appropriate to refer to the vice president as president because he is president of the Senate."

Rocket Misses 3,560

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—A skyrocket trailing orange sparks crashed into Kansas City's outdoor Starlight Theater Monday night. None of the 3,560 patrons was hurt.

The skyrocket hit an empty seat. Richard H. Berger, head of the theater's production staff, said the rocket was a nonexplosive firework, and caused no damage.

"It sure looped in there," said W. Wayne Barnes, holder of the box where the rocket landed. "We weren't shaken up much but a girl behind us began shouting to an usher that the place was on fire. She thought a real catastrophe had occurred."

Patrons didn't become excited, Berger said. On stage, the performers didn't drop a line of "Rosalinda," which opened a week's run at the 7,000-seat theater Monday night.

Police said the skyrocket apparently was fired from a slope behind the theater in Swope Park.

Only Work: Lana

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Lana Turner might have quit the movies after Johnny Stompanato's death except that "it's the only work I know."

The 38-year-old star's comment came to light with the filing Monday of a juvenile court transcript.

It detailed a proceeding April 24 when a judge was deliberating the fate of Lana's 14-year-old daughter Cheryl Crane, acknowledged slayer of her mother's boy friend.

"A great part of me would like very much not to continue (in films)," Lana told the jurist. "However, the fact is that it's the only work I know, and that I have been the sole support of my daughter—and my mother."

"I wish I could say that I had enough put away that I wouldn't have to work. I don't. I must continue working."

Deer Strikes Car

A car owned by George Hammel of Ellenville and driven by his son, Stuart Hammel, 23, of Box 26, Ellenville, was considerably damaged Monday night about 10:15 o'clock when a deer jumped to the highway and struck the car as it was proceeding down grade on Cragmoor Road a mile and a half north of Route 52. The car was damaged but able to proceed under its own power but the deer did not fare so well. The deer was turned over to a Game Protector and the accident investigated by State Police from Ellenville.

Former Mental Patient Slays Two Detectives

PAWTUCKET, R. I. (AP) — A former mental patient shot and killed two police detectives who stormed his house Monday night when he refused for several hours to surrender peacefully.

Police riddled the house with machine-gun and small arms fire and blasted tear gas through windows after Lt. Thomas H. Truesdale, 58, and Detective Emil Newberg, 56, were slain.

Cowering in Closet

When no further gunfire sounded from the house, police entered and found Robert Genereux, 35, cowering in a bedroom closet.

Truesdale and Newberg were among four officers who first entered the house in an attempt to disarm Genereux.

He met them with blasts from his .38-caliber pistol.

Both officers died a short while later in a hospital.

The siege began when neighbors of Genereux in a tenement section complained that he was firing shots into an unoccupied flat adjoining the house he shared with his mother.

Kept Third Pistol

During the afternoon, Genereux's mother persuaded her son to give up a shotgun, a rifle and two revolvers.

She left the house and turned those over to the police. She told the officers her son refused to give up a third pistol.

Police said they would seek to hold Genereux until Wednesday before bringing charges against him.

The maneuver will involve 7,450 men, 671 officers and 1,800 vehicles.

SEVEN-CENTER — Effective Aug. 1, this blue and white, seven-cent stamp will be the regular air-mail issue. Same size as the current six-cent air-mail stamp, it features a silhouette of a jet airliner—the coming mode of commercial air travel.

Market Stays High Because Of Faith in Our System

By FAYE HENLE

The whys of Wall Street have long been a mystery to many of us. Today, the market's action is confounding even Wall Streeters.

In the past six months the market has advanced over 15 per cent with shares listed on the New York Stock Exchange gaining 20.6 billion dollars in value. During this period important companies have announced lower earnings. Other important companies have cut their dividends.

With a shake of his head one veteran let it be known that Wall Street brokers have almost one billion dollars of free credit balances on their books. This is money their customers expect to put into the market.

These facts do not answer the why of today's lofty stock prices. "Could be," said an analyst, "that what is known as the barometer theory is getting a play. Many in the Street believe that the market's behavior forecasts economic conditions by a full half year and that the current signal anticipates an upturn in business. Last summer the market started down some six to seven months ahead of the industrial production lows," he reminded us.

We'll buy that as a partial answer.

More important is institutional buying. Insurance companies, pension and mutual funds have been big selective buyers. They are renewing their faith in the steel industry. They are not yet ready to shout that Detroit is selling the U. S. economy short.

Most important, if the market itself could shout forth, it would tell you that the demand for its securities that keeps pushing prices up comes straight from people — big and little.

People in every income bracket are showing greater confidence today in goods and services than in the value of the dollar. Stocks — like real estate — are being bought both as an inflation hedge and as a means of supplementing their shrinking incomes.

The New York Stock Exchange reports that Monthly Investment Plans are being opened at the all-time high rate of upwards of 150 new accounts daily.

A concrete example of this confidence in stocks came to light just a few days ago when a New York discount appliance dealer, with the blessing of a national manufacturer, offered to swap his $150,000 inventory for odd lots of listed securities. He reasons thus:

(Registered U. S. Patent Office) THEY'LL DO IT EVERY TIME

By JIMMY HATLO

"People are too uncertain of the future to be willing to take cash out of the bank, yet they can still use TV sets, refrigerators, washing machines. I figured they might be glad to part with odd shares of stock. On the other hand, we feel good stocks are as valuable, perhaps more valuable, than dollars. Our response has been great except for those who expect a gimmick in our offer."

There you have it. The market is high because more people, unexpected people, have more confidence in the economic strength of our productive system than they have in their dollars and what these will buy for them in the years ahead.

AMERICAN MENU

Deliciously Decadent Roman Dishes Fascinate Our Chef

AMERICAN MENU HD

By GAYNOR MADDOX

At the sumptuous "Forum of the Twelve Caesars" restaurant in New York, you dine in pagan elegance. Just to read the richly embossed menu is a post-graduate course in the grandeur that was Rome.

Waiters in the livery of the emperors serve dishes that make a man feel like one of the 12 Caesars himself, or at least like the 13th Caesar. You might begin with "King Crabmeat and Pink Caviar," or "Belgian Pate with Wild Boar, Sauce of Damascus Plums," or "Caviar Imperial on an Ice Throne with Vodka and Other Accompaniments."

Allan Lewis, the young all-American manager, has the elegance of ancient Rome and the wisdom of those who catered to the emperors. He mistook us for members of an imperial Roman family and suggested for the second course either "Sea Food Curry in the Manner of the Eastern Empire," or "Fiddler Crab Lump a la Nero, Flaming," or "Planked White Fish Broiled with Mussels, Olympian Butter." Or even "The Wild Fowl of Samos Cooked in Sherried Tomatoes, under a Mantel of Crusty Corn."

The learned Mr. Lewis urged us to try some of the Forum's specialties baked in clay "under the fiery ashes." Among his suggestions were "Partridge Britannicus, aflame in Gin and Juniper Berries, with Forum Game Sauce" and "Scotch Grouse Hadrian, Served in a Nest of Ground Grain and Blackberries."

Adjusting our togas, we selected "Pheasant of the Golden House on a Silver Shield in Gilded Plumage, Roasted with an Exquisite Sauce."

Surveying the damasked walls, hung with richly painted portraits of the 12 Caesars, we caught the profligate mood and ordered two flaming desserts.

Our epicurean host flamed them before our imperious eyes—"Crepes of the Mad Nero," and "Crepes of Venus."

Came coffee and the awakening. Our few hours in the Forum were over. Yet the lordly memory lingers on.

TOMORROW'S DINNER: Cold Vichyssoise with fresh dill, broiled lamb chops, baked potatoes, broiled tomato halves spread with beef marrow and buttered crumbs, Swiss whole wheat bread, butter or margarine, tossed field greens, French dressing, fresh strawberry ambrosia, coffee, tea, milk.

Diamonds, aside from being a decorative jewel, also cut steel, shape bowling balls and polish dental fillings.

Court of Appeals Decision Favors Channel Master Firm

A difficult question of law which had been before the trial and appellate courts on four earlier occasions has now been finally determined by the highest court of the state in an opinion of the Court of Appeals just handed down. It involves Channel Master Corporation of Ellenville and Aluminium Limited Sales, Inc.

The problem arose in April 1954 when, according to the complaint of Channel Master Corporation of Ellenville, it was advised by Aluminium Limited Sales, Inc., that "its available and uncommitted supplies and productive capacity of aluminum ingot, then existing, were such as to render it then capable of selling to plaintiff 400,000 pounds per month and that it had entered into binding commitments with other customers which could in the future reduce such available and uncommitted supplies and productive capacity."

It subsequently developed, according to the complaint, that such representation was false and that, "In truth and fact, the defendant had, prior thereto, entered into long term contracts with other customers which called for annual increases of quantities of aluminum ingot to be delivered and which committed all of the defendant's supplies and productive capacity for many years to come" and that the only supply available was "such quantities of aluminum which its long term contractors had voluntarily and temporarily chosen to relinquish."

Relying on the representations of the defendant company, Channel Master failed to secure commitments from other suppliers and as a result were unable to secure adequate supplies during the periods of scarcity which followed.

Action was brought by Channel Master for damages sustained by reason of the fraud practiced upon it.

The amended complaint was dismissed at special term held by Justice Leonard J. Supple at Poughkeepsie on February 25, 1957 on the grounds representations alleged in the complaint did not relate to existing facts but referred to promises and expectations of things to occur in the future.

Plaintiff appealed to the Appellate Division, Third Department. That court, by decision of December 19, 1957 unanimously reversed Justice Supple's order and held the complaint did state facts sufficient to constitute a cause of action for fraud. Because of the importance of the issue involved, however, it certified that the question of law should be further reviewed and finally settled by the Court of Appeals.

The Court of Appeals affirmed the decision of the Appellate Division in a split decision. The majority opinion, was written by Judge Stanley Fuld and concurred in by Chief Judge Albert Conway, Judge Charles S. Desmond and Judge Charles W. Frossel.

Judges Adrian J. Burke, Marvin R. Dye and John Van Voorhis dissented.

Channel Master Corporation was represented by its attorneys

Louis Berger of Ellenville and Abraham Streifer of Kingston. Abraham Streifer argued the appeal. Aluminium Limited Sales, Inc., was represented by Milbank, Tweed, Hope and Hadley, and its position was presented to the court by A. Donald Mackinnon, of counsel.

THE ONE TRUE NATIONAL ADVERTISING MEDIUM

IS

THE DAILY NEWSPAPER... because 88% of America's families get a newspaper every day. That's national coverage!

Over 100 million people read a newspaper on an average day. Every one of these readers has the opportunity to see every advertisement in the newspaper. Only a few of these people can be reached by any radio, television or magazine message.

Unlike television and radio, newspaper advertising is always ready and waiting to suit the time, place and convenience of the consumer. The newspaper is always selling — and always selling to more people than any other medium.

If you want to sell more products to more people, use the daily newspaper — the one true national advertising medium.

Mohawk Indians to Have Bible Signed

Princess Margaret Won't Get To U. S. on Visit to Canada

TORONTO (AP)—Princess Margaret won't get a chance for that side trip she wanted to take to the United States during her visit to Canada, but at least she'll meet some American Indians.

Mohawks from Canada's Six-Nations Reservation at Brantford are expected to dress up in full tribal regalia to meet the Princess at Niagara Falls Theater on Friday, Aug. 1. The princess will sign the Mohawk Indian Bible presented to the tribe by Queen Anne in the 18th Century.

Margaret arrives in Toronto from Saskatchewan late July 30 and will spend the night on her 12-car private train hitched to three diesel engines.

After a tour of Toronto July 31, the royal party will travel to Stratford for a performance of Shakespeare's "A Winter's Tale" at the Stratford Festival. Afterward she goes backstage to meet the cast.

The royal train leaves for Niagara Falls at midnight, stopping at an undisclosed spot for the night. It is due in the city at 10:15 a. m. Aug. 1. And the princess is scheduled to go to the Oakes Garden Theater to meet civic dignitaries and the Mohawk delegation.

Then she goes to Table Rock for a view of the falls. Several local officials will accompany her to an observation plaza at the base.

The next scheduled stop is Ontario hydro's Sir Adam Beck No. 2 generator station downstream. The princess will descend 250 feet by elevator to see the big turbines, then return to the Sheraton Brock Hotel for lunch before leaving for a visit to Hamilton in the afternoon.

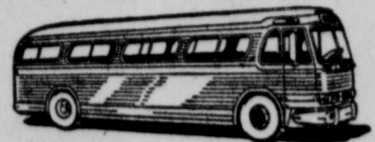

The two-hour visit to Hamilton, which ends with Princess Margaret's departure for Ottawa, should be the most colorful stop on her tour of southern Ontario.

From the Canadian National Railways station, the princess goes to Hamilton Civic Stadium to present the regimental colors to the Highland Light Infantry. She is the unit's colonel-in-chief.

Preparations for the ceremony, in which the regiment will be presented with banners representing eight World War I honors and 10 from World War II, have been underway for a year.

The regiment's officers are training for the 76-minute ceremony with axe handles, so they can carry their heavy ceremonial broadswords without wavering.

Sly Fellow, the Beaver

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—The beavers are making things hot for the trout, and the Wisconsin Conservation Department is trying to determine what can be done about it. There are complaints that the dams built by the beavers slow up the rapid flow of the streams. As a result, the sun heats the standing water, making things too warm for trout life.

Team Handicap Bowling Tourney At Bowlerama Aug. 8-17

Despite his multiple club championships at old Wiltwyck, later at Woodstock Country Club, his two previous Herdegen and Kingston City match game titles, the 1958 Herdegen triumph must stand as Bill Van Aken's finest accomplishment on the fairways.

His record busting 72-hole score of 275 was the result of tremendous iron play and putting that would have done credit to a Bobby Locke or Horton Smith. He has hit better wood shots in his career, but he was able to recover magnificently. He kept his once highly volatile temper in tight rein and played cautious, conservative golf when he had to.

Records are made to be broken and lurking in the inner recesses of his mind was the inevitable desire to set a new 72-hole mark, when he arrived at Twaalfskill with a 5-shot bulge over Randall, the man they always have to beat. But through the front nine, Van Aken repressed any such notions and kept true to the card. Once the eagle-2 on Twaalfskill's 10th hole had zoomed his lead to nine shots, he went for broke. His final 31 was one of the finest nines ever recorded in the Herdegen tournament.

Van Aken with 11, now holds more major golf titles than any area player. George Hughes ranks second with ten. Bill has won three club titles at old Wiltwyck and three at Woodstock. He also boasts two city match game crowns and three county baubles. Hughes is a five-time winner at Twaalfskill, the last three years in succession. He also has taken two city titles and three Herdegens.

• The Nineteenth Hole:

Two unrelated incidents gave sharp emphasis to the obvious—Randall was not up to the razor keenness of a year ago. One was the string of four bogies in succession on the back nine at Wiltwyck. The other was his inability to murder the No. 4 hole at Twaalfskill which has produced 20 birdies and 4 eagles. Both of his drives left him with bad second shots. . . . Had Leon been at the peak of his game the running battle with Van Aken would have been a classic. . . . Bud Leininger deserves some sort of medal for posting a 77 at Twaalfskill despite a fat 10 on the fifth hole. Twaalfskill's 7th, another paradise of birdies, was nicked for 20 of them, with Alvie Boice solving it for an eagle. But Bob Daley, who is having a lean year, settled for a 9 first time around. Two par-5 holes (4th at Shawangunk and 5th at Twaalfskill) ruined Leininger's shot at third place. His aggregate was 19 on the 2 holes.

• Hold Your Hat Department:

This bit of information will not settle the perennial argument of how many strokes Wiltwyck is tougher than neighboring clubs, but it's a morsel for locker room and 19th hole discussion. Wiltwyck Country Club played nearly seven (7) strokes tougher than the three other courses for the 26 finalists in the tournament. The average rounds were: Wiltwyck (82.38), Ellenville (75.96), (note: Shawangunk is a par 68); Woodstock (74.76), and Twaalfskill (74.57). Is Woodstock tougher than Twaalfskill? The answer is yes, but not by much on the basis of records for the past nine years. The only sensible solution to the whole problem of comparative handicaps is to have all four courses rated. Some day there will be an Ulster County Golf Association and its first job will be to do just that. . . . Twaalfskill's par-3 fourth hole was adamant as ever, only 14 pars out of a possible 52. Barry Blemker, Carroll Schipp and Roy Vogt were birdie-eagle on Twaalfskill's No. 4. Ed Passmore of Ellenville bagged a 5 and a 3.

The 1958 tournament was the finest to date. Playing conditions were superb and the co-operation of the presidents, golf chairmen and pros at the respective clubs was excellent. The tournament committee wishes to express its thanks to Bob Stapleton and Brad Bradford at Ellenville; Lewis R. Wilson and Jim Hutchins at Woodstock; Dr. Fred Holcomb, Jr. and David McMeekin at Wiltwyck and James R. Quinn and Alex Gerlak at Twaalfskill, the host club. Eugene Berdi was an excellent host at Twaalfskill. So another Herdegen goes into the record books, literally and figuratively. It will be bigger next time around.

English Weather Getting To Be Too Much for Gene

By GARYEN HUDGINS

ST. ANNE'S-ON-SEA, England, (AP) — Gene Sarazen, one of greatest of all bad weather golfers admitted today the English weather is getting to be too much for him.

"This is weather for kids not for men in their fifties," 56 year old Germantown, N. Y., pro growled.

Coming off the rainswept Fairhaven course after the first qualifying round for 1958 British Open championship, Sarazen complained.

"It was raining when I got here last week and it's been raining ever since. I don't like playing in this kind of weather any more."

Still, the weather in this English village overlooking the Irish Sea did not hurt the old master's game. Playing through the first half of 36 qualifying holes for the championship opening Wednesday Sarazen scored a one over par 73.

Earlier in the day playing in bitter weather, Australian Peter Thomson took the lead for the medal with a 63 on the tougher Lytham course.

The 27-year-old Australian, three-time winner of the tournament, clipped eight strokes off Lytham's par with his 31-32-63. The Lytham links has a par of 36-35-71 for its rugged 6,635 yardage.

Frank Stranahan, playing despite a painful back injury, carded a 36-32-68 to lead the United States contingent over the same course.

Stranahan said he injured his back Sunday night while bending over in his hotel room. "Muscle gave way in my back," he said. "When I got up, I could hardly walk."

On the practice tee, Stranahan was in great pain. He was given permission to delay his tee-off an hour and a half so he could have a masseur work on him.

Bobby Locke, the defending champion from South Africa, had a 38-35-73 at Lytham.

Two other players — Alex Fox of Scotland and Angelo Angelino of Italy — scored 66 at Fairhaven.

When he arrived last week, Sarazen, 1932 Open winner, said he was here just for fun.

His score in the first qualifying round changed his mind — a little.

"Well," he conceded, "My game is too good right now to say I'm here just for fun. Let's just say I am going to try and qualify."

Rain or no, Sarazen attracts one of the largest galleries of any of the more than 350 golfers entered in this year's Open.

Nearly 50 fans trudged around the course watching him tee off into the mist.

Versace Second In Eastern Pin Tourney on L. I.

Phil Versace of Poughkeepsie, finished second in the Eastern Open bowling tournament over the weekend at Mineola, L. I.

Versace walked off with the $1,000 second prize money. Stan Thaden of Chicago won the $1,200 first place money.

Versace, who finished fourth in the State Bowling Proprietors Match Game championship, averaged 198 throughout the week-long competition. Play was under the Petersen Point System.

The Dutchess area finished up with 194, 231, 202 and 210. Versace's performance earned him a crack at the World Invitational tournament in Chicago in December.

Andy Carnase, Bronx, was third; Leo Morel, New York City, fourth, and Tony Sparando, New York City, fifth. Carmen Salvino, Chicago, was sixth.

Event to Aid KWBA for 1960 State Classic

Ferraro's Bowlerama will sponsor a team handicap tournament for men and women from Aug. 8 to Aug. 17. Proceeds will be used to help bring the 1960 New York State Woman's Bowling Assn. convention and tournament here.

The Kingston Woman's Bowling group has put in a bid for the classic. It will not be determined until after next year's tournament in Schenectady if Kingston will be successful in its endeavor.

The tournament in August to be known as the Rip Van Winkle, will be a 100 per cent handicap and all monies will be returned in prizes. First prize will be worth $200 and a trophy for the male champions, while the women's first place team will receive $100 and trophy.

The balance of the prize list will depend on the number of entries received. John Ferraro announced that 'Ad' Jones has entered the first male team, while Manhattan Bowling Balls, sponsored by Ferraro, is the first woman's team.

Entry fee is $20. Blanks can be obtained at either Ferraro's Bowlerama or Sangi's Bowlero, Nell Alverson, KWBA president or Jake Chichelsky, KBA head. Mrs. Reta H. Frederick is chairman of the tournament. Entries will close Aug. 1.

The presidents of both Kingston bowling associations strongly urge ABC and local bowlers to support the tournament.

Smash and Grab Tennis Marks Wimbledon Play

By ROBERT JONES

WIMBLEDON, England (AP)—This is the age of smash and grab tennis.

Don't let anyone try to convince you those dainty little shots, delicate little touches and text book styles are going to pay dividends.

You can divide the court up with geometrical precision and carry a picture of every inch of it in your head, but unless you can knock the cover off the ball and send the other man's racket spinning, you won't get near winning a Wimbledon singles title.

Some of the best tennis in this Wimbledon has come from a trio of old-timers — Budge Patty, Jaroslav Drobny, and Gardner Mulloy. They can all hit that ball pretty hard when they want to—and they are not afraid of giving it a gentle stroke once in a while.

But now the old-timers aren't around any more. The modern youngsters with their serve and smash game have pushed them out and the 1958 Wimbledon crown is going to be worn either by one of a quartet of poker-faced Australians, a towering American with a mulekick service, a couple of brawny Scandinavians, or a lonely Briton, the surprising Bobby Wilson.

The quarter-finalists are Ashley Cooper, Mal Anderson, Neal Fraser and Mervyn Rose from Australia, Sven Davidson from Sweden, Denmark's Kurt Nielsen, and Barry MacKay, the Dayton, Ohio, giant who is the lone bearer of the U. S. standard, McKay defeated India's Ramanathan Krishnan Monday, 6-3, 11-9, 6-2.

Patty is 34 and won Wimbledon eight years ago. Drobny is 36 and won it in 1954. Mulloy is 44 and would probably have won it but for the war. Patty lost to Davidson, 6-4, 2-6, 9-7, 6-4 and Rose licked Mulloy, 6-2, 6-3, 6-1. Anderson stopped Drobny, 6-2, 10-8, 6-2.

They can't stand up against these smash-and-bash youngsters. But they can play the brand of tennis that pulls in the crowds.

Little more than a handful of spectators clustered round an outside court to see Ashley Cooper, last year's finalist and No. 1 seed this year, scrape through a fourth round four - setter against South Africa's Abe Segal, 13-11, 6-3, 3-6, 14-12.

But Patty, Drobny and Mulloy packed their courts out when they played...and lost.

York Tightens Southern Lead

The red hot York Red Roses, who have won 13 of their last 16 games, strengthened their perch atop the Eastern League's southern division last night, defeating Williamsport twice, 2-1 and 8-4.

Southpaw Kelson Russell, sent to York after duty with St. Louis Cardinal farm clubs at Rochester and Houston, hurled a seven-hitter in his league debut to win the opener. In the nightcap, George Moton picked up his second straight victory since joining the club recently.

Binghamton, pace-setter in the northern division, lost to Reading, 9-1, as right-hander Jim Perry struck out nine and scattered five hits. It was the Triplets' sixth loss in their last nine games.

In other games, Lancaster survived a three-run ninth inning rally by Springfield to win, 7-5, and Allentown staged a 21-hit barrage against four Albany pitchers to outlast the Senators, 11-7.

FIRST OFFICIAL RACE—Mayor Edwin F. Radel is shown starting the first official race at the opening of the new Junior 1/4 midget race track Saturday. The track is located at Walter Reade's 9W Drive-In Theatre. All children 8 to 12 are members of the midget sports car club.

The Kingston Junior Club took six out of eight races. Races will be run nightly under the supervision of the Kingston Club and there will be cars available for those kids who do not own one. The Long Island Junior Sports Club also competed in the opening races. (Freeman photo)

La Sorda Thrives On Three Jobs

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Many men have to hold down two jobs to earn a living. Not many can say that they hold down three jobs and excel in all of them. Tommy LaSorda is one of those few men.

LaSorda is road secretary and pitching coach of the International League's leading Montreal Royals and in his spare time manages to pitch for them.

Monday night he chalked up his tenth victory of the year and his fourth shutout in three-hitting the Columbus Jets 3-0. He faced only 30 batters in the hour and 33 minute game and threw only 101 pitches.

The Buffalo Bisons beat the Havana Sugar Kings 5-2, the Miami Marlins defeated the Rochester Red Wings in ten innings 6-5 and the Richmond Virginians outscored the Toronto Maple Leafs 7-5 in other league action.

P and G Upsets Hilltop In Rec League, 2 to 1

Pat and George's capitalized on two unearned runs to nip Jerry Green and Hilltop Rest, 2 to 1, to tighten the Recreation Softball League race.

Hank Passante, the P&G flinger was nevertheless a match for Green, yielding only three hits and pitching shutout ball after the first inning.

In other games, U. S. Van

Lines edged Alart's Service, 6 to 5, and Chez Emile overpowered 11 to 7, Chappie's Taxi.

Corky Van Vliet was nipped for 11 Alart safeties but managed to decision Dick Bradley, who gave only seven. A four-run third inning was the key factor.

Horton Hits Two

Horton smacked two home runs for Van Lines and Roy

Casella hit one for Alart's. Slover stroked three singles for Alart's.

A six-run rally in the fourth gave Pete Buttacorelli and Chazzy their romp over Chappie's. The winners collected 14 hits off Walt Bigler, including a home run by Ronnie Scheffel. H. Walton and Bud O'Dea hit for the circuit for Chappie's. George Glaser and Buttacorelli had triples and Buddy Smith slammed three singles.

Giambra Wins

Unpopular Bout

Over Giardello

By JACK STEVENSON

Associated Press Sports Writer SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Middleweight Joey Giambra won a financial gamble and recaptured some boxing prestige Monday night on the slim margin of an unpopular split decision over Joey Giardello.

The loser from Rosedale, N.Y., complained he lost his first bout in two years on a home town decision. Giardello is the No. 2 contender.

Giambra, now looking forward to some bigger paydays, collected $3,710 for his 10 rounds in the Cow Palace. Giardello, who outweighed his foe 160 pounds to 156½, came out loser but picked up $10,000.

The $10,000 was a flat guarantee while the former was figured on a percentage of the net gate of $22,850.59 — the gamble Giambra took to get the bout.

Giambra, once ranked high among middleweights, had gone to the ring just once since losing to Rory Calhoun here last August. His manager, Mike Scanlan, said Monday night that Joey suffered a broken jaw in the fourth round of that one but continued the full 10.

Neither the National Boxing Assn. nor Ring Magazine ranked him among the first 10 middleweights for June, but the NBA July list, compiled before Monday night's fight, did have him No. 8.

Boos greeted the announcement that Referee Jack Downey and Judge Jack Silver scored the bout for Giambra while Judge Eddie James saw Giardello well ahead.

A check of newsmen indicated support for Giardello with six picking him the winner; three including The Associated Press, scoring a draw; and one favoring Giambra.

Giardello took the first three rounds as Giambra's timing appeared rusty after the long lay-off. The action dulled in the middle rounds and brought boos and stomping for action from the crowd of 4,631. Then Giambra caught fire and scored with left hooks and rights to the head.

A disgruntled Giardello, nursing cuts alongside each eye, charged, "that decision was worse than the one against me in Buffalo (N.Y.) in 1952 when I fought Giambra when that was his home town."

Giambra's field will qualify in flights of 15 in an 18-hole medal play round July 15. Match play will begin the following day and continue through July 19. The championship final on Saturday will be 36-holes.

Beesmer's Steal Wins for Yanks

Gary Beesmer stole home in the sixth inning and gave the Yankees a 5-4 win over the Giants in the Hurley Little League last night.

Elks Early Rally Shades Legion 5-4 in Babe Ruth

The Elks, behind the six-hit pitching of Dan Van Wagnen edged the American Legion nine in a Babe Ruth encounter last night at Dietz Stadium.

Lon McAndrew also gave up six hits, most of them in the first two innings when the Elks scored all of their runs.

Three base hits mixed with a base on balls were good for three runs in the initial frame. Hank Schatzel opened with a single. Van Wagnen walked, but back to back singles by Johnny Hetsco and Garry Terwilliger was good for three.

They pushed across two more in the next frame with two outs. Schatzel walked, advanced on Chuck Davide's single to left. Both runs scored when Van Wagnen's sharp grounder was neatly picked up by Bob Reardon, but his throw got by the first sacker.

Spahn Notches Tenth Victory Donovan Having Bad Season

Chicago's 1957 Phenom Suffers Ninth Setback

By ED WILKS

Associated Press Sports Writer

Luck of the Irish? Don't try peddling that line to Dick Donovan, who a year ago was the right-handed ace of the Chicago White Sox and now is the last to get started on their late-starting staff.

The big guy, who lost only six all last season while winning 16 (no one topped his .727 winning percentage among American League regulars), now is 3-9—one loss shy of his worst season, as far as defeats are concerned. He was 12-10 in '56.

He took it on the chin again Monday night, losing 5-3 to the Cleveland Indians.

The Detroit Tigers, with the help of three unearned runs, two in the ninth, defeated Kansas City in the only other AL game scheduled.

In the National League, Milwaukee defeated Cincinnati 9-2, but second-place St. Louis stayed 2½ games behind the Braves by beating Los Angeles 4-2.

Donovan, 30, gave up all the Innings' seven hits and runs in his 6 1-3 innings and lost his second in a row since blanking Baltimore 4-0 June 15.

Minors Clubs 12th
Minnie Mino, late of the Sox, belted his 12th home run to open a two-run second after Jim Landis' ninth home run had given Chicago a 1-0 edge. Mickey Vernon drove in two Cleveland runs with a single and double.

Cal McLish (4-5) checked the Sox on five hits, giving way to reliever Hoyt Wilhelm when doubles by pinch hitter Earl Torgeson and Billy Goodman counted the other Sox runs in the eighth.

The Tigers, who blew two leads, scored three runs in the ninth, after Bob Cerv's solo 20th homer gave the A's a 6-4 edge. Harvey Kuenn, hitless in five at-bats, caused all the fuss with the bases loaded and one out.

Kuenn rapped what looked like a double-play ball to third baseman Preston Ward, but two runs scored when he pegged it into right field, and the winning run came home when Roger Maris got off a bum throw after retrieving the ball. Reliever Tom Gorman (1-3) was the loser, while Billy Hoelt (7-8) picked up the decision in relief.

Pitching — Warren Spahn, Braves, became first to win 10 in the National League, walking only one while beating the Redlegs 9-2, with a six-hitter.

Hitting — Stan Musial, Cardinals, drove in two runs with his 13th home run and a double in a 4-2 victory over the Dodgers.

Milwaukee Ace Curbs Gophers To Beat Redlegs

By ED WILKS

Associated Press Sports Writer

Warren Spahn and Stan Musial, Mr. Pitcher and Mr. Hitter in the National League, have shown the kids how to do just about everything else, so now they're giving lessons in how to shake slumps.

Spahn, a Milwaukee light-hearted 37, suddenly got to throwing gopher balls after winning eight of his first nine decisions and just as suddenly lost three in a row.

Stan the Man, a near unanimous All-Star Game selection, was flitting with a .500-plus average until three weeks ago, then sagged into a 4-for-38 slump that averages out to .105.

Now they're back in business.

Spahn became the first pitcher to win 10 in the NL this season, winning his second in a row for the league-leading Milwaukee Braves with a six-hitter that flattened his favorite victims, the Cincinnati Redlegs, 9-2, Monday night. Musial was 2-for-3, driving in two runs with his 13th homer and a double, as the second-place St. Louis Cardinals stayed within 2½ games of Milwaukee with a 4-2 victory over Los Angeles in the only other game scheduled in the NL.

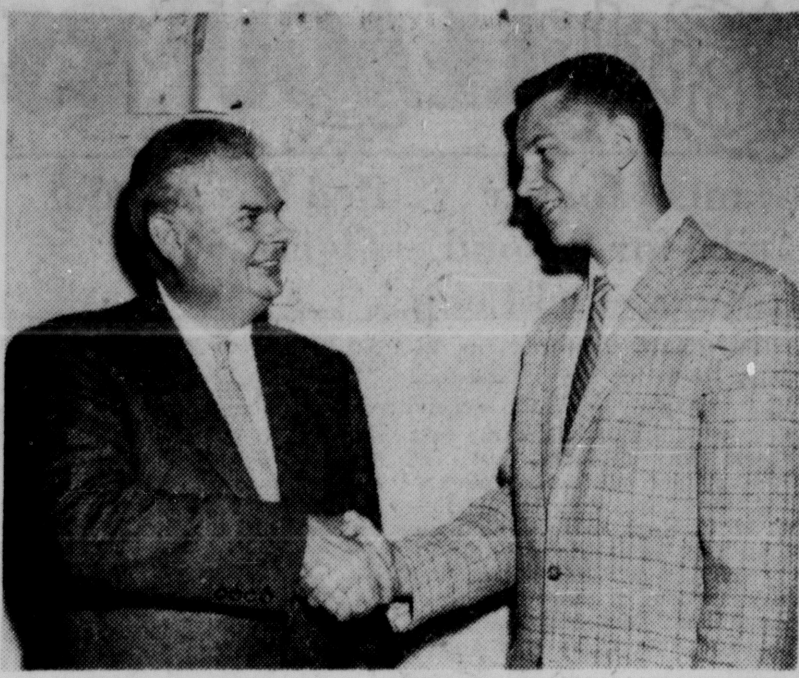

In the American League, Detroit defeated Kansas City 7-6, and Cleveland beat the Chicago White Sox 5-3.

Curbs Home Run Ball

Spahn, who had given up 12 home runs in his last four games, kept the Redlegs inside the park at Milwaukee, walking one and allowing only one earned run while the Braves bunched 10 of their dozen hits in a four-run fourth and a five-run fifth. Del Crandall drove in three runs with a single and a double.

Right-hander Bob Purkey (8-5) suffered his fourth consecutive defeat.

Musial, batting .382 in his last nine games and now .363 for the year behind the .369 posted by Willie Mays of San Francisco, hit his 39th homer in a two-run Cardinal first that chased rookie Bob Giallombardo in his first major league decision. A walk, stolen base and an error gave the Cards the payoff run in the third and Musial then socked in the cushion run in the fifth. Winner Lindy McDaniel (5-7) gave only seven hits.

Masters Tennis Lead to Segman

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Frank Segman, his lame leg on the mend, smothered Tony Trabert Monday night and is now co-holder of the singles lead in the $15,000 Masters Round Robin Pro Tennis Tournament.

After three days, Segman and Pancho Segura have 2-0 records. Segura was idle Monday night as Segman overwhelmed Trabert, 6-3, 6-2, and Rex Hartwig downed Lew Hoad, 2-6, 6-3, 9-7. Hoad, who has yet to win a pro match here, is now 0-3 for the tournament. Hartwig is 1-2, Ken Rosewall 1-0, Pancho Gonzales and Trabert both 1-1.

Two Southpaws Cop'ENYGA Titles

Rod Sears of Glens Falls Country Club is the first southpaw ever to win the Eastern New York Golf Association Class A title.

Sears played steady, near par golf to defeat Edward Brandow of Berkshire C. C., Pittsfield, 3 and 2, in the weekend finals at Glens Falls.

(Wiltwyck Country Club golfers, members of the ENYGA, did not compete because of their appearance in the Herdegen Memorial tournament.)

Class B champion George Cook of Mechanicville made it two in a row for the lefties, winning a 19-hole match from John Jupin, Jr. of Van Schaick, Cohoes, in the finals.

Right hander Walter Kennedy, a Glens Falls business man, vanquished a fellow club member, Robert McKie, 8 and 6, to take the Class C title.

Akins Named Boxer of Month

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The National Boxing Assn. today chose welterweight champion Virgil Akins as its boxer of the month for July.

The power punching St. Louis fighter won the nod for stopping Vince Martinez of Patterson, N.J. on June 6 to take the vacated welterweight title.

The NBA's latest rating pegged Martinez as the second leading contender for Akins' newly won crown behind Cuba's Isaac Logart.

Harold Carter, Camden, N.J., heavyweight, won a 10-round decision from Germany's Willi Besmanoff in Carter's first start since serving a 11-month Army hitch. The NBA promptly listed Carter No. 5 in its rankings.

Gen. MacArthur Heads Rutgers Hall of Fame

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Football Hall of Fame at Rutgers has an old Army football player as its new advisory board chairman.

He is General of the Army Douglas MacArthur who became chairman Monday. Gen. MacArthur won a letter in football at West Point and was president of United States Olympic Assn. at the time of the 1928 games.

John Gaucas, pro, and Fred Murray, amateur of Van Schaick Island, posted a best ball 63, 9-under-par, on the Saratoga Spa course Monday to capture the Northeastern New York PGA Pro-Senior championship.

Gaucas and Murray spliced nines of 32 and 31 to finish a stroke ahead of the field.

Tied for second at 64 were Guy Farina and Fran Smith of Caroga Lake, and Steve Savel and Bill Underhill, Western Turnpike, former champions.

Grouped at 65 were three teams including Bob Haggerty and S. B. Madsen of Edison; Charlie De Stefano and Dr. Kovacs of College Hill, Poughkeepsie, and Guy Farina and Stub Youker of Caroga Lake.

Urges Pine Hill Rotary Take Part In 1959 Event

The Pine Hill Rotary Club was encouraged to make plans for the Hudson-Champlain Celebration in 1959 at their meeting last night.

Harry Rigby Jr., chairman of the celebration for Ulster County and a member of the 15-man State Commission, spoke at a well attended meeting of the club. He was accompanied on the trip to Pine Hill by Albert Kurdt, manager of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce and Kingston chairman for the celebration.

It was also announced by Rigby that the recently appointed Temporary State Commission on Historic Observance will meet in Albany July 10 for the purpose of organizing and planning for the promotion of the Hudson-Champlain Celebration and other historic observances throughout the state next year.

Blast Climaxes Seaway Power Job

MASSENA, N. Y. (AP) — A thunderous blast today loosed 200 billion gallons of pent-up water and climaxed construction of the massive St. Lawrence Seaway and Power project.

While thousands of dignitaries, tourists and residents watched from both sides of the river, 30 tons of dynamite were detonated to shatter the walls of a cofferdam and create a huge lake as part of the billion-dollar development.

Gov. Harriman and Canada's Prime Minister John G. Diefenbaker and Premier Leslie Frost of the Province of Ontario were among those to hear the mighty roar and see the dam blown up, under a hazy sky.

A New England Yankee invented the anti-skid chain for automobiles.

PORT EWEN NEWS

Businessmen's Group to Hold 'Baby Contest'

A "Beautiful Baby Contest" will be sponsored by the Port Ewen Businessmen's Association Saturday afternoon, July 26, in Ross Memorial Park, Port Ewen to add stimulus to a campaign to encourage the patronizing of local business.

Mrs. Pearl G. Sells is chairman in charge of the contest and will be assisted by Zale Liese, program committee chairman. A special committee, authorized to accept entries, the officers, members and their wives, will act as a unit on a committee to insure the success of the affair.

Only children whose parents live in the Port Ewen Fire District, will be eligible. Entries will close on July 24 and will be limited. Children aged six months to four years will be accepted. Each child must be accompanied by an adult, except in the case of twins who may be in one vehicle.

Awards will include a $25 U. S. Savings Bond and a $10 deposit in a savings account in trust for the child at the Port Ewen Bank. There will also be several consolation awards.

Any members who have not been contacted and who wish to contribute gift certificates, may get in touch with Mrs. Sells.

Entry by Letter

Mothers desiring to enter their babies in the contest may do so by postal card or letter giving the parent's name and address, the child's name and age. Entries may be mailed to "Contest Chairman," Box 444, Port Ewen. Entries also may be made with Mrs. Donald Terpening, Mrs. Rita Bonville, Mrs. Gladys Jump, Mrs. May Whitaker and Mrs. Edith Hungerford and Mrs. Barbara Anderson.

There is no fee charged in connection with the entries.

There will be a short parade of children, which after entering the park, will pass the judges stand twice. Other details will be announced.

Another committee which has been appointed to handle special arrangements, includes R. H. Meyers, Philip Sior, John Potter, John Smith, John Spinoewer, Cleon Jump, Cleon Robinson, John Henry, Edward McBroom, Kenneth Bonville, Charles Montafia, Alfred Nickerson, P. Joseph Beichert, Roger Elmendorf and Charles Perry. Others may be added from time to time.

Swartzmiller Talks

The extensive work which has been done and which is included in future plans by the State of New York Department of Commerce, for the greater development of the entire Hudson Valley area, was outlined by W. Dale Swartzmiller, regional manager, in a talk given by him at a meeting of the businessmen's association recently.

He said that more and more manufacturing concerns are moving their plants, laboratories and offices out of the metropolitan New York area, giving as one reason, the difficulties encountered by their employees in reaching their work, such as traffic congestion and the amount of time and effort spent in getting there. The river development, the new bridges which have been and are being built, make our town easy of access for shipping purposes.

Seaway Link

Swartzmiller told of the proposed deepening of the channels along the river and link up with St. Lawrence waterway. He felt that it would be not only a great help in time of defense, but it would make the entire Hudson Valley virtually an inland seaway. He said that this would encourage the establishment of small business projects because of the large number of distribution points. The construction of new bridges and the new highways already built and which may be built, has greatly aided in the development of the whole valley, he said.

Swartzmiller said that the department would gladly provide speakers from time to time to talk on related topics. At the July meeting of the business group, a prominent speaker is slated to talk on merchandising. Dr. William Harris, chairman of the industrial committee, made a report on the work he and his committee are doing on the compilation of statistics on water supply, power, transportation, utilities, etc., which when completed, will be sent to the New York State Chamber of Commerce for its use in endeavoring to have business locate in this vicinity.

You CAN have Better TV Reception
...Even in Deep Fringe Areas

"Traveling Wave" principle used by CHANNEL MASTER T-W ANTENNA strengthens picture pick-up

Don't resign yourself to poor TV reception just because you happen to live in a difficult reception area. After years of electronic research, Channel Master has developed the T-W antenna — especially designed to bring in those far away stations that you have not been able to get. It's all made possible by the T-W's revolutionary

"Traveling Wave" principle. This remarkable antenna actually re-inforces picture signals electronically — on all channels (2-13). No other antenna works so powerfully to eliminate 'snow,' 'ghosts' and interference . . . to bring in stations beyond the range of ordinary antennas.

OVER 5 TIMES STRONGER

The really rugged T-W antenna won't bend or break—even in the worst weather conditions. All aluminum, too—can never rust. You'll enjoy long years of trouble-free reception when you use the Channel Master T-W antenna.
